Ponds pose big problem

By PATHAY LUTZ
For the Press-Record

The controversy rages on in Nameoki Township, where a dispute over who is responsible for maintenance of the Shirlene Drive and Clinton Drive holding ponds continues.

Although agreements to maintain the holding ponds signed by the late Highway Commissioner Albert Bell, were produced during a regular meeting of the town board on Monday night, current Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelec said Tuesday he is not bound by those agreements.

IN A LETTER to the board, Attorney Irvin C. Slate Jr. related that "Mr. Mehelec has the legal obligation to maintain the storm-water holding ponds mentioned in the agreement."

According to an agreement signed by Mehelec himself, the holding ponds became the property of the township one year after their construction, "to be maintained by the township highway commissioner," Slate said.

The two agreements signed by Mr. Bell also stated that "the drainage facilities shall become official township property and the township highway commissioner shall maintain said facilities and so indicate on his records." But Mehelec says that his attorney, H. Carl Runge Jr., has advised him that these documents are not binding.

"MY ATTORNEY has seen these agreements," Mehelec said. "He has advised me not to get involved unless new agreements are drawn up." Mehelec argues that the agreements were signed in a "political" move, and that he could not abide by "improper" moves.

"I thought that I inherited all of the previous commissioner's responsibilities, but Carl Runge has told OFFERING HIS INPUT. Stan Rudy, 2609 Grand Ave., voices his thoughts on the fate of the Wilson Park swimming pool Monday night during the first of a series of public hearings addressing the issue. Only 35 people attended the hearing, chaired by Park Board President George Sykes. Despite the sparse attendance, options facing the park district concerning the pool were discussed in detail. Additional hearings have been set for July 9 at the Harold Brown Recreation Center and July 10 at the Lincoln Place Community Center.

PROLIFIC QUICK PICK. Granite Cityans Billy Harris, left, and Harry Towne, right, are now $3.8 million richer. Towne used the Quick Pick method to win last weekend's Illinois Lottery Lotto to Game, entitling him to half of the $7.6 million statewide grand prize. He is sharing his winnings with longtime friend and roommate Harris. The winning ticket was purchased at Sullias Package Liquor, 2260 Washington Ave., whose owner, Rick Lesko, center, gets $38,000 from the state as his commission.

Seeks city power plant 2 share millions

Imagine not being saddled with electric bills from Illinois Power Co. and instead owning your own power plant. That's what Milton Morris, owner of Milmor Manufacturing Co. in Venice, proposed to the Pontoon Beach Village Board Tuesday night.

No endorsement was given by the officials for his plan to create a new electric cooperative.

Morris approached the board with a detailed plan for the Quad-City area to operate the Union Electric Co. power plant in Venice. That plant is currently used for surplus power production during peak demand periods, it was noted.

MORRIS' PLAN involves research grants for Illinois coal use, a new British method of removing sulfur from emissions, and the authority of the various city and village boards to condemn property.

The first step, Morris said, would be to stop Union Electric from tak-

Billy Harris, 2400 Grand Ave., probably couldn't ask for a better friend than Harry Towne. The two have a 14-year friendship that includes the sharing of a home, living expenses and weekly purchases of Illinois lottery tickets.

But now, instead of sharing the bills, the two are sharing a $3.8 million jackpot Towne won this weekend in the Illinois State Lottery lotto game.

"WE SPLIT everything," Harris says in explaining why the two will share the proceeds from Towne's winning ticket, bearing the numbers 1, 12, 13, 23, 39 and 44. Lottery officials say Towne is the first grand prize winner to use the Quick Pick

No local roofing firm

Gentges Roofing Company of St. Louis was the company at work on a Nameoki Village Shopping Center building when a sudden rainstorm hit June 22. The storm caused water to enter part of Trattler's clothing store and there also was some damage at two other store sites. Dan Linder, owner of Trattler's, said Tuesday that no roofing firms other than Gentges were involved in the improvement project at Nameoki Village.

Schools ready for long-term financing plan

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

With special meetings set for both 6 p.m. today and Friday, the Granite City Board of Education is preparing to refinance its operating debt. The fiscal year will end Saturday.

Supl. B.J. Davis said after a five-hour board session Tuesday night that the district is attempting to map out financial plans for an extended period of years.

BOARD MEMBERS and administrators conferred at length with Don M. Lindberg, vice president of Dougherty, Dawkins, Strand & Yost, Minneapolis investment bankers. He is expected to meet with the board again this evening.

The district has borrowed heavily from local banks and the extent of this debt is seen as becoming unwieldy. With interest rates on the rise this spring and summer, school debt interest alone is a major and growing expense.

School officials believe that, unless a viable and detailed economic plan is adopted and followed, there could be state intervention in District Nine decision-making.

ACTIONS TAKEN Tuesday night included:

—Abolishing the working cash fund as of June 30 and permanently transferring $160,837 to the education fund. Taxes collected this summer and fall for working cash also will go to the education fund.

—Authorizing up to $100,000 in transportation fund tax anticipation warrants. This fund needs $56,826 to meet outstanding bills

New laws July 1

Many new laws will go into effect July 1, including major revisions of laws governing the registration of corporations and securities in Illinois as well as several providing additional services to motorists.

Driving in Illinois will become more convenient for handicapped persons and their families. One law expands the definition of a disability to include persons with cardiac and respiratory conditions and to those who cannot walk without braces or other prosthetic devices.

"THIS CHANGE will enable more handicapped motorists to legally use designated parking facilities for the handicapped," Secretary of State Jim Edgar said.

Under the legislation, my office will also begin issuing handicapped decals to motorists who wish to use them in place of handicapped license plates.

"The major benefits of the new decals are that they will be recognized statewide, and will be easily transferable from one vehicle to another to be used by family members or friends who transport handicapped persons."

BEGINNING JULY 1, handicapped license plates will also be issued for pickup trucks and vans. Another change increases the number of pairs of handicapped plates that may be issued to a family to two.

EVEN FIRST GRADERS learn microcomputer basics these days, as shown by this photo of Nicole Trots at the Parkview School learning center. Along with gaining keyboard familiarity, pupils use educational software to develop reading and mathematics skills. Later, they progress to writing simple programs in the Basic or Logo computer languages. This is one of the topics being spotlighted by the Granite City Coalition for Public Education in its 1984 Your Schools in Action project. Area Agency on Aging forms elderly abuse unit

The Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging is now developing an Elderly Abuse Unit to investigate, evaluate and provide service to senior citizens who might be victims of elder abuse.

Agency officials say that in Region 8, which includes Madison County, little local information is available as to the depth and scope of abuse of aged persons.

The agency is in the process of contacting social service agencies, church groups, police departments, medical personnel and other sources to request assistance in identifying the number of abused elders in the area, the number of service providers available, and services which are not available.

Legislation introduced earlier this year in the Illinois General Assembly defines elder abuse as "intentionally or knowingly causing any physical or mental injury to an elderly adult, including exploitation through economic misuse of the financial resources of an elderly adult."

Agency officials cite figures which show there are an estimated 800,000 cases of elderly abuse in the United States. Such cases include beatings, verbal abuse and threats, theft of property or money and coerced entry into nursing homes.

The recent economic downturn and the cost of medical care not covered by Medicare or Medicaid may be behind some cases of elder abuse. "As a result, family budgets have suffered and this, in turn, has created tension in the home. In some instances, this has been translated into violence against an elderly parent or family member," agency officials say.

A survey by Boston Legal Research and Services for the Elderly showed that typical victims of domestic violence, are frail females 75 years old or more; 84 percent of the abusers were relatives, and 75 percent of the victims lived with the abusers.

One of the major problems, agency officials say, has been and continues to be reporting the abuse. Only 16 states have enacted mandatory reporting laws on elder abuse.

The agency has contracted with the Women Crisis Center in Belleville to assist in taking reports of elder abuse. Those who know of or suspect such cases are being encouraged by the agency to call 1-235-0892 or 1-389-8540.

Persons wishing further information about the program may call or visit Pam DePriest, protective service specialist with the Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging. The address is 8787 State St., Suite 200, East St. Louis, Ill. 62203 and the telephone number is 1-397-4118 or toll-free, 1-800-642-3859.

Venice seeking $255,000 from CD

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Venice submitted applications totaling $255,000 to the Madison County Community Development Agency for funding in 1984-85, Mayor Tyrone Echols reported to the Venice City Council Tuesday night.

The applications were forwarded to county officials June 22 following a public hearing the previous night at the Venice City Hall.

Deadline to apply for the next allocation of projected Community Development funds, covering Oct. 1, 1984, through Sept. 30, 1985, was June 22.

A total of $200,000 was requested for street improvements in Venice and $55,000 was sought for housing rehabilitation.

Included in the $55,000 was the sum of $2,500, which was requested on behalf of the Venice Park District for improvements, Mayor Echols explained.

Total CD funds available for District 2 (Quad-City area) amount to $337,540, the mayor reported at the last council session.

Venice Senior Center nears completion, opening soon

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

The new Venice Senior Community Center could open its doors anytime, if some basic furniture becomes available, Mayor Tyrone Echols stated after Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council.

"If we get some tables and chairs right away, things could happen pretty fast. It may take a few days to set things up, but we could open soon," he commented.

The mayor pointed out that senior citizens are now displaced from the Venice Recreation Center, where a children's summer recreation program is taking place.

The Southwestern Illinois Agency on Aging board was due to consider a Venice request for assistance in furnishing the center at an agency board meeting this week, the mayor said.

"There are no tables and chairs and you can't expect people to use the place without anywhere to sit," Mayor Echols commented after the meeting. "When we get some furniture, we could open the building pretty fast."

"We are hoping they (the agency) are going to help us by providing some equipment and furniture. We may get 70 or 75 percent of what we asked them for, and we are pretty well pleased with what they will buy."

Although he has not had a chance to meet with the senior center's architect this week, the mayor said he believes most deficiencies noted in the building have been corrected.

None was serious enough to impede the center from opening when furniture arrives, he commented.

A state fire marshal inspected the facility this week and gave the center "a clean bill of health," the mayor noted.

At the council's last meeting, it was noted there were problems with the air-conditioning system's venting, and a portion of the front driveway needed to be replaced.

A general construction contract was awarded Nov. 1 to Korte-Plocher Construction Co., Highland, which submitted the lowest bid of $198,305 to build the 3,800-square-foot masonry-veneer structure.

The center is located at Bissell and Brown streets and will be available for use by all senior citizens and other community groups.

Third Ward Alderman John Ervin noted the city is about $30,000 short of funds in order to complete the center satisfactorily, apart from the anticipated help from the Southwestern Illinois Agency on Aging.

"Seeing as the fire chief is here, I would like to ask him if the fire department would like to help complete the senior center," Alderman Ervin said.

Mayor Echols noted that at the present time the center is without a gas range and a speaker system.

"I appreciate the recommendation by the chairman of the fire committee (Ervin) and I think it would be a worthy cause if the fire department would consider donating to our deserving senior citizens," the mayor said.

Second Ward Alderman Hank Svezia asked who was responsible for looking for shrubbery outside the new center, noting that "quite a few of the shrubs are brown and appear dead."

Relocating a streetlight from near a viaduct on Third Street to the senior center also was proposed by Alderman Ervin, who said the pole had been hit by a truck and later was replaced by the power company. The pole, however, has no light on it, he said.

According to the mayor, long-awaited repairs and improvements on Bissell Street will be ready to start in the next week or 10 days.

The street resurfacing project will be handled by the City of Madison street department, assisted by manpower provided by Venice.

The joint project will be accomplished in accord with an agreement with the Illinois Department of Transportation, which is reimbursing the cost of repairs.

Damage to the street resulted from using the thoroughfare as a state-designated detour when the Venice underpass on Broadway, leading to the McKinley Bridge and Illinois Route 3, was closed for about nine months during repair work.

District 2 includes the municipalities of Venice, Granite City, Madison and Pontoon Beach and the townships of Granite City, Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice.

Total funds for the entire Madison County area, however, are down $374,000 from the allocation received in the last funding period, Mayor Echols said.

The new grants are based on 1980 census data, while the grants of two years ago still were based on the 1970 census figures, Joe Parente, a county coordinator for Community Development programs, explained.

The total funding has not been cut at the federal level, but far more for communities now qualify for CD funds than were eligible under the previous census figures, he advised.

The City of Venice has submitted applications to the CD agency for street improvement funds for the past several years, despite little action on the requests.

"We continue to do it (apply), as we may get something out of the fund for the streets," City Commissioner Roseann Koelker commented.

A public hearing was scheduled for Tuesday, July 10, at 7:30 p.m., on the 1984-85 appropriation ordinance for the City of Venice.

The citizens' review and hearing will take place immediately prior to the council's next regular session, starting at 6 p.m. July 10.

Gordon Jensen to speak at GC church

Gordon Jensen, a native of Canada who began performing in public at age 12, will speak and lead gospel singing at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, 3400 Maryville Road, at the 10:30 a.m. worship service this Sunday.

When he reached 16 years of age Jensen joined a touring group known as "The Gracells." This 10-year affiliation provided a forum for his songwriting and spanned several recordings for both Heartwarming and Zondervan records.

The guest speaker's songs have been recorded over 2,000 times and have been translated into 15 different languages. He has been nominated five times for "songwriter of the year" honors by the Gospel Music Association and several of his songs have earned the GMA's "Top Songs of the Year" distinction.

He and his wife, Marsha, live near Nashville with their four children, Michael, Gordon II, Hollie and Kellie, according to the host pastor, the Rev. Jim Parks.

Other building permits include a $45,000 remodeling project at the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, 1909 Edison Ave., and an annual industrial repair permit at Granite City Steel ($1,632).

Also issued were permits for one new residence ($50,000), 135 permits for residential repairs ($229,631) and three home additions for a total of $17,300.

Chapman top state trial judge in U.S.

Charles W. Chapman, circuit judge of the Madison County Third Judicial Circuit of Illinois, has been named the recipient of the 1984 Outstanding State Trial Judge Award presented by the Association of Trial Lawyers of America.

ATLA President David S. Shrager said Judge Chapman will receive this annual national award for judicial excellence on Tuesday, July 24, at luncheon ceremonies during the 1984 annual convention in Seattle, Wash.

He was selected by the ATLA Judicial Achievement Awards Committee from several detailed nomination presentations on judges submitted by ATLA members and state trial lawyer associations throughout the U.S.

Judge Chapman was nominated for the award by Alton attorney Hugh M. Talbert on behalf of the Illinois Trial Lawyers Association.

According to the Awards Committee, Judge Chapman was selected for excellent work in presiding over some innovative civil trials in Madison County, such as Green vs. Alton Telegraph Printing Co. (1980) and Lowe vs. Norfolk & Western Railroad (1981).

A member of the Third Judicial Circuit's Civil Division, Judge Chapman has tried an average of more than 20 cases to conclusion each year since his advancement to the bench in 1979.

"He has a high reputation among the bench and bar in Illinois for his honesty, integrity and fair-mindedness to attorneys on both sides," Shrager said.

A native of Granite City, Judge Chapman graduated from Madison High School in 1959 and from Southern Illinois University in 1963.

He received his law degree in 1967 from St. Louis University Law School, where he is now an adjunct professor of law teaching trial advocacy.

JUDGE CHAPMAN

Chapman served as a law clerk to Federal District Judge Omer Poos, Southern District of Illinois, for two years.

Following 11 years of private practice in Granite City, Chapman withdrew from his law firm in 1979 to complete course work for a master's degree in economics at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He and his wife, Judy, and their three children reside in Edwardsville.

The Association of Trial Lawyers of America is the world's largest trial lawyer organization, with more than 53,000 members throughout the U.S., Canada, Puerto Rico and other countries.

Suspect arson in fire at home

Members of the Madison County Arson Investigating Team suspect a flammable liquid was used to start a house fire at 920 Iowa St., Madison, yesterday.

Billy Farris, owner of the home, told police he was lying on the front porch of the home at about 12:45 p.m. when he heard an explosion and saw the middle bedroom's window break.

Madison firefighters were called to the scene and extinguished the flames. The arson team was then called in and found evidence of a flammable liquid in the bedroom. It was not clear who might have had access to the window area.

Damage to the one-story frame home is estimated at $16,000, with another $6,000 damage to the contents of the home.

Liquor license limit put on 1st reading

Members of the Granite City Council placed an ordinance amending the number of city liquor licenses on first reading Tuesday night.

The ordinance was submitted to

E. 23rd St. site in zoning lawsuit

An article Monday on a lawsuit filed by Realtor John Krevovich should have said the properties involved are located at 29th St. and Madison Avenue and at 2817 E. 23rd St. He obtained real estate listings for the properties but is not the owner.

The suit seeks commercial zoning for the sites; it asks for awarding of $8,300 actual and $250,000 punitive damages.

bring the city law up to date on the number of licenses for taverns and liquor stores.

According to the ordinance, the maximum number of taverns the city can license are 48, which is the current number. The maximum number of package liquor stores is 16, also the number of businesses currently licensed.

In 1977, the limits were 39 and eight.

Another provision of the ordinance specifies that if one of the current license holders is terminated for any reason, the number of licenses allowed will revert to one less in that category.

City Attorney John Papa said this does not necessarily mean that the number of liquor licenses allowed in the city will keep reducing. "The main point of the ordinance is to place a maximum number on city liquor licenses allowed," he said.

Papa said the original ordinance had been out of date because of amendments the council had made by adding extra licenses over the years.

He conceded that the current limits can easily be increased upward if the council majority so decides.

'Protectionism' is not the issue

State Representative Sam W. Wolf of Granite City has been busy at Springfield these days, and in a constructive way. Chairman of the Illinois Steel Caucus, he was successful in securing passage of Illinois House Resolution 643, which calls on Congress to enact U.S. Senate Bill 2380 and U.S. House Bill 5081.

Both bills contain the Fair Trade in Steel Act, which would temporarily limit steel imports into the United States to a maximum of 15 percent of the domestic steel market.

Wolf noted that in the first quarter of 1984 foreign imports of steel garnered 26 percent of the market, adding that they threaten to go still higher before year-end.

Speaking on behalf of the resolution were Wolf, Rep. Monroe Flinn of Cahokia and Rep. Sam Panayotovich of Chicago, members of the Steel Caucus. The document points out that the U.S. has lost more than 200,000 steel jobs since 1977 and that more than 175 of America's steel plants closed during that time at a loss of 13 million tons of production capacity.

Wolf commented, "Every major nation except the U.S. subsidizes its steel industry and at the same time restricts steel imports." If enacted, Fair Trade in Steel would provide stability, tax revenue and employment opportunities across the nation.

The federal bills would extend for five years, creating "breathing space" for U.S. firms to further modernize their plants and increase their competitiveness. As Wolf wrote it, "Most experts agree that foreign industrial policies targeting the U.S. market have removed world steel trade from the realm of economics and placed it firmly in the realm of politics."

"Government investigations have found significant illegal foreign subsidization of steel, justifying full application of U.S. trade laws which, had they been imposed, would have barred many nations from this market."

"Despite the resurgence of the economy, our nation's steel industry still faces a tough uphill battle in light of the unfair competition. Many foreign countries have taken the attitude that they would rather ignore trade laws and ship their unemployment to this country, rather than abide by agreements that have been in existence for many years."

"Lobbyists for foreign nations have tried to categorize our resolution as 'protectionism,' but this is a ploy to cover their real purpose."

Reagan budget plan hits Medicare funds

To the Editor: The National Council of Senior Citizens has released an analysis of our president's budget policy that affects the elderly, charging that over the past three years the president has "relentlessly attacked Medicare" as well as several other programs serving older people.

The analysis covers seven federal programs for the elderly... particularly the elderly poor. It provides specific details on the president's recommended cuts for these programs since 1981.

NCSC Executive Director William Hutton said, "For the past three years, the Administration has been sending up budgets that slash away at programs serving the elderly and the poor."

"The fiscal '85 proposals continue along the same course, a course that has led to fewer and fewer services for the needy elderly and more money for the military."

"This year, the president has requested cuts totaling $9.2 billion for domestic programs, with 40 percent of those cuts coming from programs for the poor."

"In direct contradiction of his stated concern for America's elderly, one out of every four dollars of his proposal will come out of the Medicare and Medicaid programs."

MEDICARE REDUCTIONS: The White House budget calls for a $1 billion cut in Medicare spending for FY 1985, for a total saving of $19 billion by fiscal year 1989. The recommended provisions for bringing about these savings would:

INDEX Part B deductible to the annual rate at which physicians' allowable fees increase.

RAISE the Part B premium; continue increasing until premium reaches 35 percent of program costs by 1990.

FREEZE payment levels to physicians by 1984 rates for one year.

OFFER voluntary vouchers in lieu of current coverage.

DELAY eligibility to the month after 65th birthday; and,

REQUIRE competitive bidding by Medicaid contractors.

MEDICAID REDUCTIONS: The proposed reduction in Medicaid spending is $1.067 billion in FY 1985, for a total savings of $3.7 billion by 1989. The provisions for Medicaid reduction would:

REDUCE permanently the federal matching rate by three percent; and MANDATE recipient co-payments for hospital and physician services.

Charging that White House spokesmen "have, themselves, conceded that the president plans deeper cuts in social programs in next year's budget, Hutton said that "the semblance of 'fairness' that surrounded presentation of this year's budget is a mark of his cynicism and contempt for the intelligence of the American people."

This budget, like all previous Reagan budgets, continues the philosophy of tax cuts for the rich, budget cuts for the poor and billions for the military.

The budget report itself states that it is "entirely possible" that further cuts will be proposed in Medicare and other social programs next year, after the election, that is!

In addition to Medicare and Medicaid, other programs serving the elderly covered by the National Council of Senior Citizens' review include Social Security, housing, low-income energy assistance, and legal services.

Copies of the NCSC analysis are available from: The National Council of Senior Citizens, 925 15th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

I believe we all should write our legislators now. Time is of the essence.

A six-inch water main burst in the downtown district early today and flooded the basements of an entire business block, causing damage estimated conservatively at $10,000. The break occurred five feet underground on Delmar avenue and about 15 feet from Nineteenth street and the Binney building line.

Tons of water, unable to escape up through the pavement, washed a huge hole in dirt beneath and then tore through the building foundation, finding an outlet in the basements. For a brief period this morning, the entire city water supply was off.

Discovered at 5:30 a.m., the water had already completely filled the basements under Uzell's drug store and Tolleson's clothing store.

Expanding its services following public approval of expansion of the Granite City park district boundaries, the park board Thursday night employed Harold E. Brown as a full-time director of recreation. He was named to the new post of assistant director of parks and recreation, and the title of Supt. O. H. Williams was changed to director of parks and recreation.

The new position to be filled by Brown was created effective July 1. He has been performing similar duties on a part-time basis for seven years and has been closely associated with the local athletics for many years.

Brown started the park touch football and basketball programs and served on the American Legion Illinois Athletic Commission for three years before joining the park district.

More than 1,000 St. Elizabeth parishioners gathered Sunday on the Churchgrounds for an annual "Family Day" to honor newly-appointed Monsignor Lawrence Mattingly. The Rev. Monsignor Mattingly has been pastor of St. Elizabeth's for 22 years.

Pope Paul VI has conferred the rank of Prelate of Honor from His Holiness with the title of Reverend Monsignor to the local pastor of St. Elizabeth's, The Most Reverend Monsignor Lawrence Mattingly. The honor was made by Bishop William A. O'Connor May 20 at a meeting of the Board of Consultants.

Last year, Monsignor Mattingly celebrated 40 years as a priest.

Construction of an overpass at Chicago Avenue and the Illinois Terminal Railroad tracks west of Granite City — the first step in extension of PA Route 151 from Granite City to Venice — is included in the 1975 work schedule of the Illinois Department of Transportation. The new schedule, announced Friday by Gov. Dan Walker, estimates construction cost of the grade separation project at $1,850,000.

Nuclear confrontation

These people were asked Wednesday: Has the U.S. come closer to nuclear confrontation with the U.S.S.R. since the Reagan Administration took over in 1981? Their comments follow:

Gale Thornton, Granite City

"I don't know. A month or two ago I would have said 'yes,' but it seems like Reagan is taking a softer line with Russia lately. I don't know if this has anything to do with the election coming up, though."

Elizabeth Anderson, Granite City

"Definitely. I think there's a stronger possibility of nuclear war now, but not necessarily because of Reagan. We're moving closer to a nuclear war every day."

Bill Perigo, Granite City

"I don't know. Every time you listen to the TV it sounds like they're getting closer. It doesn't seem they're agreeing on anything much anymore."

George Cook, Granite City

"Definitely. Reagan's position on the whole MX missile program has developed more tension between the two countries. His defense policies need to be altered."

Supports Moad as useful council member

To the Editor:

An observation of condemnation from the city council on the efforts made by Alderman Woodrow "Woody" Moad has taken quite a bit of criticism on printed article. As a patron of every city council meeting, I know what goes on. Condemnation is what he received — commendation is what he deserves.

To quote Edward Kennedy when he read his brother's eulogy, "He saw a wrong and he tried to right it." The people desire a representative of the people to represent them at the city council meetings. Mr.

Moad's convictions are his guide to decisions. What is good for the people is good for him — not the reverse.

He maintains a low profile as a rule, but when important issues are presented, he allows himself the luxury of speaking out for the people he serves. This is reason for praise — not criticism for doing his job.

We are most fortunate to have such a man working for the average person, for, without him, who knows what would be. If one knows his duty and acts, regardless of the consequences, well then this is a valuable man — not a man to be condemned. I am a country girl with an average intelligence who, from birth, was taught that right is right and wrong is wrong. One is not always liked for the right decision, but right is right and I think, as a rule, if asked, the average person would agree with me.

I felt compelled to write this for many reasons, but most of all because it is important that people in Mr. Moad's position, present and future, know that they have support from people like me when they find themselves in a small positive vote in a sea of negatives.

Radical new federal power grab

To the Editor:

A Trojan horse is poised at the gates of Congress. And it looks as though Congress is ready to open the gates without taking a good look at the contents of the horse. The unfortunate history of Troy suggests Congress ought to slow down.

The bill is the Civil Rights Act of 1984 but, like the original Trojan horse, it is not what it appears to be at first glance. Everyone, of course, is for civil rights. This is a lot more. Hidden behind the rhetoric of rights is a radical expansion of federal control over state and local governments and private institutions.

Those who now refer to the Civil Rights Act of 1964 as the Big Brother Act of 1964 are not engaging in hyperbole. Michael Horowitz of the Office of Management and Budget outlined in a memo how the bill "if passed would largely eliminate the remaining distinctions between federal and state, and federal and private, concerns."

The bill would do this by changing the definition of a recipient of "federal aid." Today, if a department of a state government receives federal tax dollars, it falls under certain federal regulations. The same applies for private concerns that contract work with the federal government.

It is understood that there are strings attached to federal dollars. The proposed legislation, however, would expand federal control from the present wording of "any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance" to "any recipient." Such recipients may be covered even if they are "indirect" recipients.

Some examples: If one department or agency of a state received federal funds, every agency of the state would fall under federal control, as would every political subdivision of the state, i.e., every city and town.

One dollar flowing into one department of a university would bring the entire university under federal control.

If this legislation is passed, the concept of federalism — the division of power and authority between the federal, state and local levels of government — would be finished forever.

Not content with bringing your local police station and public school under Uncle Sam's stern discipline, the legislation also tracks federal dollars from their direct recipients to where they are spent in the private sector.

Does your local grocery store accept food stamps? Does your neighborhood funeral parlor accept veterans who receive military burial benefits?

Does your local private hospital accept Medicaid patients? Does your local receive tax-deductible donations?

All these private activities are receiving federal aid "indirectly" and, given the recent record of the courts, would likely fall under federal control as "recipients" of federal aid.

The radical nature of this legislation was largely unnoticed as it garnered 63 co-sponsors in the Senate and passed the House of Representatives' Judiciary Committee by a voice vote on May 23 after only 10 minutes of discussion.

Some members of the Senate, however, have recognized the dangers posed by this bill. Those who take the Constitution seriously can only hope that Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah) holds firm in his commitment to stop or amend this flawed legislation.

For anyone who feels my depiction of the wide-ranging nature of the Civil Rights Act of 1984 is alarmist, I would point out that even the Washington Post worries that the bill is too far-reaching and recommends that Congress "at least understand fully what the consequences of passage may be."

When the Washington Post is worried that the federal government is making too large a power grab, it's time for the rest of us to take a hard look at what's going on.

FEELS THAT WORK SCHEDULE DEPRIVES HIM OF PENSION

To the Editor: I would like to know how eight hours of work could be considered suitable long-term employment. I was laid off from Feb. 6, 1982, to Feb. 6, 1984, went back to work, worked a couple of weeks, got laid off for a week or two, went back to work for about three weeks, got laid off again.

That's all I've been doing since this company called me back, and this is so called suitable long term employment.

All this is for is to gyp the men out of their pension. This is a good case for the Labor Relations Board to check into.

me it isn't so," Mehelic stated. "If he (the former highway commissioner) accepted an improper road, for instance, I don't need to go along with that."

Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs disagrees with Mehelic, saying that the agreements leave no room for argument.

IT'S THERE in black and white," Briggs commented. "Those agreements prove that he is responsible."

The dispute arose when town board officials authorized the purchase and repair of pumps in the holding ponds during an emergency, and Mehelic refused to pay for them. Board members agreed to pay for the pumps out of the town fund and sue Mehelic for reimbursement, if necessary.

In the meantime, residents of the affected area submitted a petition during Monday's meeting complaining about the lack of maintenance. "THE PETITION states that the lack of maintenance has led to weeds transplanting and growing in residents' yards, snakes presenting a hazard to children, and a disturbing odor of decaying material, the rendering of backyards useless because of the increasing mosquitoes and, in some view, the potentially dangerous situation of clogged inlets to the pumping stations, decreased capacity of the holding ponds, health hazards, and a reduction of property sale value."

Stephen Isenburg, Democratic committeeman for the 11th Precinct, submitted the petition, saying, "I realize that the manpower shortage presents a problem, but we, the people who support this township, are left holding the bag. Let's get this situation resolved."

In other business Monday, board members approved resolution for issuance of $40,000 in tax anticipation warrants (loans against tax funds yet to be collected) for the township and $20,000 for the highway department to enable them to pay their wages and bills.

SUPERVISOR BRIGGS said warrants are necessary because County Clerk Evelyn Bowles has reported that real estate tax bills will be unusually late this year, making receipt of the taxes late as well.

Miss Bowles indicated to Tax Collector Norman Hall that bills won't be sent out until late August or early September. "It will be 30 more days after that when the bills are due, so it may be Nov. 1 before you see any cash," Hall reported.

He told the board that many taxing bodies in Illinois are suffering that same financial plight because of the late collection of tax money, and said the delay could be blamed on the amount of paperwork generated by the assessing and taxing process. TRUSTEE HELEN HAWKINS opposed the resolutions, saying that the 1984 delay has no bearing on the pattern of issuance of tax anticipation warrants.

"We have to issue anticipation warrants every year whether we get the money late or not," she said. "The money paid for interest on these loans could be used to get some things done around here, like cutting weeds, getting the ditches dug out and cleaning up the holding ponds," she added in opposition to utilization of funds for interest.

Mrs. Hawkins also demanded that pressure be put on Metro East Sanitary District to control the high level of water in Horseshoe Lake, citing "crushed basements" and other problems arising from the level of water in the lake and in adjoining areas.

"They (the district) either don't care or they are just negligent," she said, contending that the Dorey Slough lower level floodwater outlet — between the lake and the Cahokia (Hartford) Canal, built in 1972 — is not being used.

BRIGGS SAID HE HAS contacted the district several times, and has always been told that the problem is "under control."

In response to an earlier decision by the board to request the refusal of a building permit to Terry Mercer, a new property owner in the 4200 block of Breckenridge Lane, was received. The board's request was prompted by complaints that someone might fill in an existing "farmer's ditch" on the property during construction of a home.

In a letter to the board, Paul Hawkins, building, environmental and zoning administrator of Madison County, suggested that if the contractor "moves the building five feet to the side lot line, making construction within three feet of the adjacent property," and obtains the permission of the affected adjoining property owner, the County Board "would not oppose" a permit request.

A NEW COOLER has been installed to keep cheese and butter fresh for commodities distribution. Hooked up last Friday, the cooler is "an old one but a good one," Briggs said, and should assure commodities recipients that the food will be fresh.

Assessor Carl Macios was congratulated for having completed the coursework required to be a certified assessor.

CERTIFICATION is not compulsory, but Macios told the board that he was glad he took the course. He joked, "It wasn't easy. When you get a little older, your brain doesn't work as well when you are young. It's a good course, but it's not a snap."

Board members voted to require that submissions for meeting agendas be turned in by 4 p.m. Friday before Monday sessions.

method, in which the machine chooses the numbers.

Towne, 54, told the Press-Record on Monday that he will leave his job at Taracorp Industries, 16th Street and Cleveland Boulevard. Harris said he, too, will leave his job as a pulley maker or J.K. Pohl of St. Louis, "I'd be a fool to keep on working," he commented.

The two men plan to use their winnings to buy a small farm outside of Granite City, Towne said, to "get outside of the town and get some fresh air."

THE WINNERS will raise cattle, chickens and maybe a few saddle horses on the farm.

Towne said he and Harris found out they had the winning lotto number Sunday morning around 7:15 while they were doing their weekly laundry at the laundromat. "We went to the Winner's Circle and wrote the numbers down. We went home and found out we were winners at the kitchen table."

Towne purchased his ticket at Sullies Package Liquor, 2260 Washington Ave. That entitles owner Rick Lesko to one percent of the winnings. Although Towne and Harris said they have not received requests for money, Lesko joked that he had "already had some people ask me for loans."

Lesko plans to bank his $38,000 share of the winnings. He says it is the first time he has sold a winning lotto ticket of such proportion.

Meanwhile, Towne and Harris are enjoying the attention that goes hand in hand with being millionaires. "We were at the bottom of the world, and we just jumped to the top," Towne summarized.

New laws

1980 will become available for pickup trucks and vans in July.

A lottery will be held in mid-August at the State Fair in Springfield to determine recipients of the 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7-letter plates for which more than one request was received for pickup trucks and vans. Thereafter, the plates will be issued on a first-come, first-served basis.

APPLICATIONS for the new vanity plates for small trucks and vans are postmarked no later than July 31, 1984, and be mailed to: Secretary of State Jim Edgar, Personalized Plate Section, Room 524 Centennial Building, Springfield, Ill. 62756.

"During the next year, we expect to issue 5,000 pairs of the new vanity plates," Edgar said, "generating an additional $375,000 for the road fund."

The new vanity plates are being produced at the Illinois Rehabilitation Facilities, Inc., Decatur, which is now manufacturing 11 of the license plates being issued in Illinois.

LEGISLATION passed in 1983 marked the first major revision in Illinois' Business Corporations Act in half a century. The revision, proposed following a two-year study by an advisory committee appointed by Edgar, is expected to increase the number of firms operating in Illinois by reducing "red tape" and delays that have discouraged them from doing so in the past.

The new Business Corporations Act was carefully written to provide corporations doing business here with greater flexibility, while balancing and protecting the rights of shareholders and management," Edgar noted.

Major changes under the new law include:

1. Reducing unnecessary paperwork, cost and delays for Illinois corporations.
2. ALLOWING MODERN financial positions.

Legislation rewriting the Illinois Securities Act will streamline and modernize regulations on new securities offerings in Illinois to attract investors and enhance capital formation in the state.

"The new law makes it easier for new and small businesses to raise capital," Edgar said. "As a result, Illinois will become more appealing to businesses entering the investment market, and my office can devote more effort on combating securities frauds."

THE NEW SECURITIES law makes the following improvements:

- A. Provides Illinois investors immediate access to new securities issues registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
- B. Makes it easier for small businesses to raise capital through essentially private securities offerings.

C. End Illinois' discrimination against quality over-the-counter issues by adding a blue chip exemption.

D. Allows investment bankers to more easily underwrite and sell securities to Illinois retail clients.

E. Increases securities registration fees to generate needed revenue for the state.

More funds to weatherize here; CYS praised

The Energy Assistance Foundation has announced an additional Grant of $2,000 to the Co-ordinated Youth Services here.

The CYS program was successful in weatherizing 80 homes for $40,000. Four additional applicants were eligible when funds were exhausted from the first two grants.

Due to the excellent performance, the Energy Assistance Foundation said, it has awarded $2,000 to complete the remaining four residences. This brings to date a total of $42,000 awarded by the foundation to the organization for weatherization programs in the local area.

"We are impressed with the Granite City program due to its dedicated service to the community and the high quality of work," said Harold E. Powell, executive director of the foundation.

The Decatur-based foundation began in December 1982 and makes grants to community organizations to help needy persons conserve energy and reduce their utility bills. It was begun with an initial grant of $50,000 from Illinois Power Co. The utility will match other contributions up to an additional $250,000.

Donations are sent to the Foundation at P.O. Box A1749, Decatur, Ill. 62525.

Law requested for handicapped parking

Members of the Granite City Council approved a motion Tuesday night to bring in an ordinance establishing a handicapped parking zone in front of two residences in Granite City.

The motion is for residents living at 2411 Washington Ave. and 2344 Lee Ave.

Alderman Alfred agreed that both residents will agree to show proof of their handicaps and that the parking spaces will be restricted to vehicles showing handicapped stickers.

City Clerk Bob Stevens said Wednesday that although this would be an unusual ordinance, there is a similar law in effect for a resident living in the First Ward.

Grants sought to help build pool

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Granite City Park District commissioners last night hired Matt Melucci of Edwardsville, a financial consultant, to investigate possible state or federal grants that would be available to the park district to subsidize the funds of the district in building a new swimming pool.

Board members agreed to pay $30 per hour to Melucci for an estimated 20 hours to research the funding, with the cost not to exceed $1,200.

Drug suspects are sent to Madison County jail

Three men suspected of delivering cannabis or other drugs, who were arrested on warrants Friday, were transferred at 5:10 p.m. Monday to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

The trio appeared in the Granite City court earlier Monday and mittimus were issued prior to all being moved from the Granite City Jail to the county facility.

Bonds totaling $80,000 were set for Gregory G. Williams, 26, of 2417 Trowey Ave., who was charged in warrants issued through the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGI) with two counts of unlawful delivery of cannabis and one count of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance.

William N. Kee, 30, of 2028 Ohio Ave., charged in three MEGI warrants alleging unlawful delivery of cannabis, was bonded at $70,000.

Bonds amounting to $55,000 were set for Ralph E. Hanner, 27, East Melucci formerly was the executive director of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council and has been associated with other consulting firms.

In an effort to solve the dilemma of an aging pool with many needed repairs or to construct a new pool, the park commissioners set two advisory hearing dates for public response.

One hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, July 9, at the Harold Brown Recreation Center, Franklin Alton, arrested at the Ohio Avenue address and charged in two warrants with unlawful delivery of cannabis.

A 15-year-old Granite City was taken into custody Friday near the Monday's Maid Laundromat at West 23rd Street and Illinois Avenue after allegedly selling three-quarters of an ounce of cannabis to a 16-year-old woman.

Another youth, from Jadin, Mo., was arrested at the Ohio Avenue address on a delinquency warrant and also was sent to the detention facility.

The arrests resulted from a nine-month investigation by MEGI agents into alleged drug dealing in the vicinity of West 23rd and Illinois and the Ohio Avenue address, it was learned.

Five vice charges against Madison man

Jimmy Kostoff Jr., 36, of 1223 Iowa St., Madison, was booked on five charges at 12:30 a.m. today when arrested at Charlie's Restaurant, 3120 N. Main St.

Charged with aggravated assault, resisting a peace officer, disorderly conduct, battery and property damage to property, he was released at 4 a.m. on $400 cash bail.

Officers were called to the lounge area where it was alleged Kostoff created problems when asked to quiet down after allegedly using profanity. He is said to have struck an employee.

While officers were present, Kostoff allegedly cursed the lounge manager, Dennis Meyer, and struck him and also accused a man of moving some of his money on the bar. Kostoff also pushed, shoved and threatened officers who wrestled him to the floor to handcuff him, it was alleged.

Police Sgt. J. W. Apperson was kicked in the shins, causing abrasions and swelling. His wristwatch was damaged.

Officer Doug Law sustained a cut to the leg and had his pants leg torn on glass which littered the floor. Officer R. W. Hayes, also kicked in the left shin, suffered abrasions and swelling. He also had his shirt torn.

Fate of Wilson pool discussed

USING CHARTS AND BLUEPRINTS. The fate of the Wilson Park swimming pool was discussed in detail and at some length Monday night during the first of a series of public hearings to be held by the board of park commissioners on the fate of the recreational facility. Board President George Sykes, above, refers to one of several charts used in his presentation of pertinent information to the 35 people who attended the hearing at the Wilson Park ice rink. This chart shows the relationship of expenditures and income of the pool since 1970. The large, dark area across the center of the chart represents the deficit the pool has been operated at, which peaked in 1975. At right — Commissioner Nancy Sanders, at top left, shows Mrs. Cathy Rudy and her daughter, Lisa, one of the proposed locations that a new pool could built, if construction of a new pool is eventually decided upon. An entirely new pool is one of four options being looked at by the park board. Other options include operating the existing pool as is and making the necessary repairs each year to keep it operable; renovating the existing pool and poolhouse, or constructing a new pool in the same location as the present pool.

Expanded auto shop at GCHS is under study

The Granite City Board of Education decided Tuesday night to seek cost figures leading toward improvement of the automotive instructional shop at Granite City High School.

Initially developed will be an estimate of the cost of hiring an architect to prepare plans and specifications for the proposed project. No funds for the work or design have been committed as yet.

With the closing of GCHS North a year ago, shops and laboratories there were moved to GCHS South, renamed GCHS.

Thomas C. Holloway, director of vocational and career education through Saturday, said in a report that "the district was able to keep the labs up to par with the exception of the automotive shop."

"In February, the board authorized formation of a temporary advisory council to study and make recommendations to improve the condition of the shop."

"Many of the automotive shops in the Quad-City area sent representatives to join the council. Its final recommendations have been received."

"At the first meeting of the advisory council, a goal of a new building was set. After a further meeting and contacts with the State Board of Education, it became apparent that—even with donations from local clubs and businesses—a new metal building was out of reach in light of our present economic condition."

"Help from Lamar Moore, a local contractor, was solicited. With his help, the council formulated the following recommendations.

"Although a new building would provide the best solution for the auto shop, it was determined to be too expensive. Therefore, the council recommends the board hire an architect to redesign the present facility to make it suitable for operating an auto shop. It proposes that five concepts be incorporated into the design."

"1. Two non-load-bearing walls in the shop should be torn down to allow the auto shop to expand into the shop entrance and washroom area, increasing the shop area by 636 square feet."

"2. A door should be cut in the storage room of the adjoining classroom to create a toolroom, allowing the area used by the present toolroom to become a work area. This would increase the shop area by 238 square feet."

"3. Two garage doors with ramps should be installed on the south side of the shop in existing windows."

"4. Remove the wooden block floor and replace it with concrete so that testing equipment can be properly rolled in position around cars."

"5. Use the classroom across the hall for demonstrations and classroom work, allowing the present classroom area to become a work area, adding 780 square feet to the shop."

"The five alterations would create a shop area 750 square feet larger than the shop we had at North, and would allow about eight automobiles to be brought into the shop."

"An alternate recommendation, if funds allowed, would be to include an elevated work area outside the garage doors even with the existing floor, to provide additional work area in good weather. This is estimated to cost $25,000 to $30,000."

Dialogue on drugs

A column by
The Granite City Chemical People Task Force

Last week, we spoke about the origin of the marijuana plant and its uses among ancient peoples. Today we will explore the plant's usage in the 20th Century.

In 1916, the hemp stalks were being used to make paper and, in 1920, the U.S. Department of Agriculture published a pamphlet urging Americans to grow marijuana (cannabis) for profit.

But the use of cannabis for euphoric methods was growing, and in 1925 two anti-marijuana films were released. "Notch Number One" depicted a ranch foreman's attempts to keep his ranch hands away from marijuana. "Death Weed" was another western movie related to the perils of marijuana use.

The use of marijuana spread up the Mississippi River and, by the 1930s, marijuana smokers could be found in almost all the major cities in the United States.

Later in the '30s, supplies became short and shipments came in from Havana, Tampico and Vera Cruz. The importance of marijuana grew. It became a full-time operation and prices jumped from $10 a kilo to $50 a kilo.

By 1936, the government took a serious look at the increasing drug use and in 1937 the Marijuana Tax Act was passed, with 46 of the 48 states posting laws against the sale and possession of marijuana. The penalties were similar to those for heroin and cocaine.

In 1951, the Boggs Act created a fine of $1,000 to $2,000 and two to five years imprisonment for first-time violations of federal narcotic laws. In 1956, the Narcotics Control Act made violations punishable with up to a $20,000 fine and two to 10 years imprisonment for possession and up to a $20,000 fine and five to 20 years imprisonment for sale. These penalties included marijuana.

In the 1960s and 1970s, marijuana use among middle and upper class Americans grew and as use gained social acceptance, moves for decriminalization became strong. In 1968, Alaska, California and Vermont reduced penalties for possession of marijuana and, by 1970, 32 states had reduced their penalties.

The trend continued through the 1970s despite President Richard Nixon stating that the drug problem was America's public enemy number one.

One survey in 1972 estimated that over two million Americans used marijuana daily and 20 percent of persons aged 26 to 34 had tried marijuana. It was also estimated that 50 percent of the American troops in Vietnam had experienced social use of marijuana.

Marijuana trafficking was increasing from Mexico through the years, and in 1975 an eradication program was started in Mexico. With the support of the United States, a herbicide was sprayed on the plants. This alarmed the American public because of possible health dangers from ingesting the herbicide. The program was successful in reducing importation from Mexico but raised the importation from Colombia and Jamaica as domestic growing increased.

In 1977, polls showed that only 66 percent of the American public was against legalization of marijuana, but a move to decriminalize it or to decrease the penalties for possession of the drug stirred little enthusiasm.

In 1982, public opinion changed, and President Ronald Reagan announced an all-out effort to control drug trafficking, with all levels of government agencies uniting in task forces in key areas. In December, he signed legislation to use military personnel and equipment in the effort.

More domestic marijuana was destroyed in 1982 by authorities than was previously thought to exist. Currently, high grade marijuana (sinsentilla) is growing throughout the United States and imports from Jamaica and Colombia continue. There is also a high-grade marijuana from Hawaii that enters the continental United States.

Marijuana use, however, is thought to have been on a decline in recent times, especially among users who are in their teens. There is belief that marijuana use may have reached its peak and is now leveling off.

Anyone having questions or comments about drug or alcohol abuse may write to Dialogue on Drugs, Post Office Box 270, Granite City, Ill., 62040. The task force meets at 7:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month at the Harold Brown Recreation Center, Franklin Avenue and Pontoon Road.

Junior Service Club holds session in park

Members of the Granite City Junior Service Club met in Wilson Park for its monthly business session planned and arranged by Kathy Mitchell, Paula Weaver and Brenda Weckman.

Club year books were distributed and discussed and special recognition was accorded to Ron Weckman for an outstanding effort in the Bike-A-Thon for Cancer event.

A project to raise money for the club's charity fund was conducted this month with the top prize going to William Weckman Sr. It was announced by Mrs. JoElla Harris, club president.

Tentative plans are being completed for the December Breakfast With Santa, fund raising project. The homemade article was won by Gail Miesky and table decorations were awarded as prizes to Gale McGovern, Joan Wachter, Mrs.

Miesky, Brenda Weckman, Donna Sprankle, Joyce Heilrich, Donna McBride, Debbie McKillian, Becky Serlich, Kathy Mitchell, Pam Reed. Others attending were, Joanne Wymire, Lynette Burnett, Joyce Curren, Betty Nighossian, Sara Repp and Elaine Rains.

Historical museum to host open house

The Madison County Historical Museum, 715 N. Main St., Edwardsville, will host an open house to honor descendants of pioneer settlers of Madison County Friday, July 6, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Features of the open house include special displays of quilts, spinning wheels, bonnets, shawls, primitive tools, farm equipment and pictures of early pioneers.

There is no admission charge, and the public is being invited to attend. The museum library will be available for research, and the museum auditorium will be available for meetings of individual families.

Project Help offers goods during sale

Project Help, a year-old food distribution program that provides food each month for hundreds of laid-off workers in the Quad-City area, will participate in the Downtown Sidewalk Sales Days Friday and Saturday.

A booth offering a variety of baked goods, including pies, cakes and cookies, will be staffed by volunteers from the organizations represented on the Project Help Council. The booth will be located on the corner of 19th Street and Edison Avenue.

Coordinating the effort are Brenda Derby of the Metropolitan Re-employment Project and Nona Corzilius of Quad-City Church Women United. Other organizations donating baked goods and staffing include United Steelworkers of America Local 1604, 4904 and 67, International Chemical Workers Local 50, the Willing Workers, the Social Service Network and the staff of the Tri-Cities Area United Way.

Project Help provides food through donations. A project spokesperson emphasized that, though many former recipients have been called back to work, many more are still in need of assistance.

Jehovah's Witnesses observe centennial

Members of Jehovah's Witnesses attended a four day district convention held in St. Louis earlier this month to mark the centennial of the group.

There were approximately 14,000 people from Eastern Missouri and Western Illinois who attended the sessions.

Ted Barklage Jr., convention manager, said about 1,150,000 delegates are expected to attend conventions on a nationwide basis this summer.

Marking the centennial, 1884-1984, Elmer Zumsteg reviewed the growth of the religious movement when he discussed, "The Increase is On" during the gathering.

In the late 1870's a small group of Bible students led by Charles Taze Russell gathered together to systematically study the Bible. Their studies led to conclusions that ultimately would place them in a position of opposition to almost all of the principal teachings of Christendom. They became unpopular, and in some cases, hated, for their beliefs.

From those small beginnings in Pittsburgh, Penn., has come the modern organization of Jehovah's Witnesses — a tenacious band of evangelizers who engage in public preaching and teaching from house-to-house and 205 lands under separate branch offices. Today over 2,600,000 regularly share in this centuries-old concept of propagating one's faith.

In 1884 a corporation was formed to handle the business affairs of the group and responsibility for printing activity. It was eventually called the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society. Thus, 1984 marks the centennial of the group known as Jehovah's Witnesses.

That name, Jehovah's Witnesses, was decided upon at a convention in Columbus, Ohio, in 1931. Prior thereto they were known as International Bible Students. The second president of the society, J. L. Rutherford, stressed the need to identify with the unique name of God, Jehovah, as recorded at Psalm 83:18, (Authorized Version). The organization wanted to represent that name in all nations and accepted as a duty the commission by Jesus recorded at Matthew 28:14.

Jehovah's Witnesses live by the principle of being "no part of the world, even as I am no part of the world." This Biblical stance has caused problems at times, according to a spokesman.

Their views on neutrality resulted in 54 appearances before the United States Supreme Court resulting in landmark decisions affecting civil rights that touched the freedom of assembly, worship, and public preaching.

They do not participate in the political process. They abstain from voting and maintain neutrality. These views resulted in imprisonments worldwide, particularly in dictatorial countries like Germany during World War II, and the Communist countries today.

There were 60,000 Jehovah's Witnesses in the world in 1938 before the outbreak of World War II. During the war, between 1939 and 1945, they increased to 141,606.

In Italy, where Mussolini's Fascist regime persecuted the witnesses, there were only 120 of them to be found at the end of the war in 1946. In only 38 years they have grown to be the second largest religion in Italy totaling 109,351 at last report.

There are now over 100,000 witnesses each in countries like Mexico, Brazil, Nigeria, and West Germany.

Triplets' offense: It's either feast or famine

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — For Tri-City Legion Post 133's Senior baseball team, Wednesday night was an evening of varying degrees, of feast or famine. Make that famine and then feast.

Playing at Wilson Park Diamond One, the Triplets suffered perhaps their worst setback of the season, a 6-0 shutout no-hitter to Edwardsville. The loss ended a six-game winning streak that began Tuesday, June 19, when they beat East Alton 13-4.

Even the inside-outside hats, the resurging Triplets' trademark, failed them. Things went from bad in the first inning to worse in by the seventh.

"WE JUST couldn't get the hit that usually gets us going," explained Triplets Coach Dave Coakley after Edwardsville's Rich Garde's no-hit performance.

"We had guys on base, but we just couldn't get the hit we needed to get them in."

That wasn't the case in the Triplets' second game in Troy. In fact, Coakley, or anyone for that matter, would be hard-pressed to find another team that could rebound from a no-hitter quite like the Triplets did Wednesday.

In short, what they didn't have against Edwardsville just 45 minutes earlier, they found somewhere along the highway on their way to Troy's Bi-County Park.

SOMEWHERE along Illinois Route 162, the Triplets' rediscovered their offense as they went on to scatter 15 hits and defeat Troy 13-4.

Coincidentally, the score was identical to that of the Triplets' first game with East Alton, the game that launched them on their way to their six-game winning streak.

"(Jerry) Booker led off with a triple, and from then on we didn't bother looking back," Coakley said. "It seems that's what we need. Someone to break the ice, someone to get the first hit. Someone to get us going."

SO FAR this season, Booker has been that person, Coakley said explaining why he uses the lanky right fielder in the lead-off position. "I don't know why it is, but when Booker's hitting, the rest of the team does too," Coakley said.

Against Troy, following Booker's lead-off triple, the balls reverberated off Tri-City's bats. In all eight Triplets hit safely in the game. The big man at the plate was Art Williams, who recorded a perfect 4-for-4 performance at the plate.

Triplet starting pitcher Allen Zentgraf recorded the win for Tri-City. Zentgraf yielded five hits in giving up Troy's four runs. Booker, who relieved Zentgraf in the fifth, recorded the save.

AS FOR the no-hitter, Coakley, and for that matter the entire Triplet team, was dumbfounded as to Garde's success.

"I really don't know why we couldn't get the hits tonight," Coakley said. "Hey, I don't want to take anything away from their kid, he pitched a fine ball game. But, we should've been able to hit this guy."

Coakley went on to describe Garde, whose win incidentally, was his first of the season, as a "finesse pitcher."

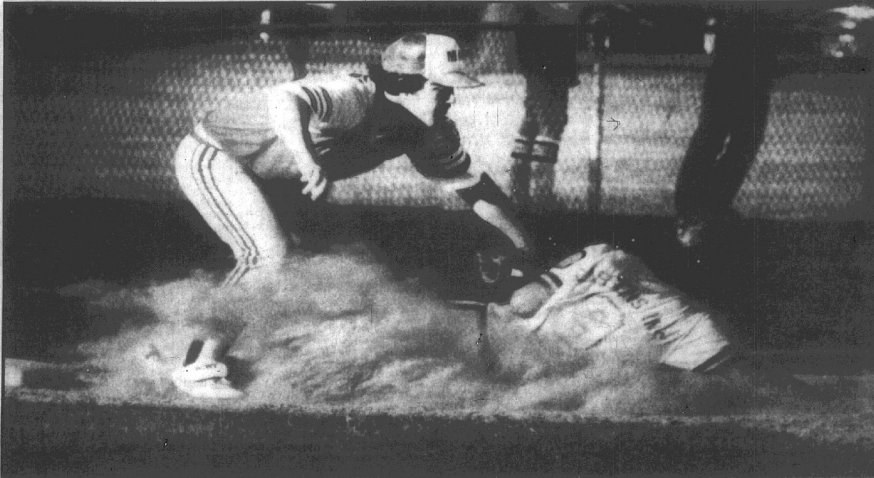

Tom Carroll, Edwardsville's coach, appeared to be equally mystified by Garde's success against Triplets.

"WE REALLY haven't used him that much this season because he's had a little problem with his control," Carroll explained.

"Actually, we've hesitated to use him much before because of his control problem. But he seems to be doing the job here tonight."

Offering his own explanation for Garde's success, Edwardsville's manager Ken Schaake jokingly said Garde was "doing it with mirrors."

"Seriously," Schaake said, "he's had some control problems in the past, but he's throwing well tonight. It's his knuckle ball," Schaake said of the left-hander's success.

GUARDED BASE. Tri-City Senior Legion third baseman Randy Burgess protects third base from a sliding Dave Jones during Wednesday night's baseball game with Edwardsville. Jones was out on the play, but the Triplets' bats

Garde recorded eight strike outs on his way to victory.

TRI-CITY's pitcher, Dan Whitsell, was tagged for the loss. Whitsell, who allowed Edwardsville 11 hits and six runs, also managed eight strikeouts.

"It's a shame Danny lost that one," Coakley said. "He really didn't pitch that bad of a ball game."

The games adjust Tri-City's record to 8-8 on the season and 7-5 in District 22's North Division.

This evening Tri-City hosts Bethalto at Varsity Field and then begin the Fourth of July Tournament in Alton. The Triplets' first game is slated for 11:30 a.m. against Troy. The tournament continues through the Fourth of July.

Takes Pair From Marissa

Spanky's defeats Marissa, St. L. Knights

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

MARISSA — Combining timely hitting with better than average pitching, the 7-Up/Spunky's baseball club completed a two-game sweep over the Marissa Miners here last night by a 9-4 score. The night before, at Granite City's Varsity Field, the Spanky's romped to a 10-4 triumph over Marissa. Monday night, in West St. Louis County, 7-

Up/Spunky's romped to a 7-2 victory over the St. Louis Knights on the Maryville College diamond.

The three-game sweep topped 7-Up/Spunky's season record to 10-9. Tonight, they'll return to one of their "home fields," Hoppe Park in Edwardsville for a single game contest against Mascouah, starting at 7:30 p.m. The other two "home fields" for the Spanky's are Varsity Field in Granite City and Cougar Field at Southern Illinois U., Edwardsville.

On Friday, the St. Louis (City) Browns will be at Granite City Varsity Field for a single game (nine innings) beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Vince Broderick posted his third victory in four starts against Marissa, fanning six and giving up seven hits and allowing four runs, two of which were earned. Gerry Gerken will pitch tonight against Mascouah.

Outfielder J. V. Victoriano homered with one on in the fourth to give the Spanky's their first lead, 4-3.

Marissa is now 17 and 7 for the season. They currently lead their division in the Metro League and in the Mon-Clair loop, too.

In Tuesday night's Spanky victory over Marissa, Marc Gluckman gained his third victory and showed that his injury down in Cape wasn't going to be a lasting one ... as feared. He fanned seven and gave up only two earned runs.

But Divers Win Summer Haven ends Paddlers' swim streak

FLORISSANT — Members of Paddlers' Swim Club swimming team saw perhaps the longest winning streaks in the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association come to an end here Tuesday, as the four-time SWISA swimming champion fell to Summer Haven 34-262.

"It was the combination of a lot of weird things," explained Paddler swimming coach Celeste Sonnenberg, who until Tuesday never lost as Paddlers' mentor.

"We've got some kids on vacation and other just couldn't make the meet. Too, I think our kids were not mentally prepared for the meet."

ASSESSING the loss afterwards, Sonnenberg said the setback just may benefit the team — a kind of reverse strategy.

"This may be just what they needed, a shock of reality," Sonnenberg said. "I kept telling them that if they didn't get mentally serious about the meet that they'd get beat. And, that's just what happened."

Although, Paddlers' swimmers didn't fare well against Summer Haven, the diving team was more fortunate, winning 41-26.

Although Sonnenberg's swimmers were not as successful as usual, there were some fine individual performances turned in. Among them were three record-setting performances by two Paddlers.

PATTI MARTIN, competing in the girls' 15-18 division, set records in both the 200 yard individual medley and 100 yard backstroke. In the 200 IM, Martin bettered the old record by nearly three seconds, 2:25.92.

In the 100 backstroke, she cut 13-100ths of a second off that record, 1:03.83. Both records, incidentally, broke times she set in last week's competition against Wedgewood.

The other record was set by John Amish who swims for Paddlers' in the 15-18 year division. Amish's record time of 1:07.84 shattered and 11-year-old record set by Mark Buenger in 1973 in the 100 yard backstroke.

IN ADDITION to the record-setting performances set by Martin and Amish, Paddlers also had five multiple first-place winners. Among them were Kelly Reed, Mike Geske, David Baker, Jenny Baker, and, naturally, Martin and Amish.

Triple winners were Reed, Jenny Baker and Martin. Reed was a triple winner in the 13-14 girls' 100 yard freestyle, 100 yard backstroke and the 100 yard butterfly.

Jenny Baker, competing in the 9-10 year girls' division, finished first in the 100 yard individual medley, the 50 yard butterfly and the breaststroke.

Martin was a winner in the 200 yard individual medley, the 100 yard backstroke and the 100 yard butterfly.

DOUBLE winners were Mike Geske, David Baker and Amish. Geske, swimming in the 15-18 boys', picked first-place honors in the 100 yard free style and butterfly and a third in the 200 yard individual medley.

Baker was a double winner by virtue of his first-place finishes in the individual medley and the 50 yard butterfly in the 9-10 year-old boys', and then rounded out his day's activities with a second in the 100 yard butterfly.

The final double winner was Amish, who picked up first-place finishes in each of the individual medley and the 100 yard backstroke and then a second in the breaststroke.

DIVERS receiving first place honors were Brent Golden, Jenny Baker, Troy Adamitis and Heather Crane.

Golden and Baker were each winners in the 10 and under division, while Adamitis represented Paddlers in 11 and 12, while Crane was a winner in the girls' 13-14 division.

For Stars' Wrestling Squad

Whitaker, Stars announce new recruits

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — More than four months before his first match as head coach of Granite City Center's wrestling team, Walt Whitaker announced five new recruits for the 1984-85 season.

Wednesday morning at GCC, Whitaker introduced, Chuck Hayden, Bob Calhoun, Brian Miller, Mark Dowdy and Ken Paterson — five grapplers who will represent the Stars this fall and winter on the mats.

"I think these five are outstanding recruits and are more than capable of holding their own. Hopefully, and I believe they do have the talent to do so, they'll qualify for the national meet," Whitaker said.

IF THEIR past successes are any indication of what kind of future the recruits have with GCC, Whitaker has considerable reason for optimism.

Hayden, a 1984 graduate of Collinsville, was the Kahoks' heavyweight last year. Majoring in law enforcement at GCC, Hayden posted a 24-4 record with Collinsville before bowing out of state contention in the Granite City High School Sectional.

Currently weighing about 210 pounds, Hayden will tentatively wrestle at 190 pounds for the Stars.

Calhoun, a 1984 graduate from Belleville West High, is Whitaker's second recruit. A state qualifier in 1983, Calhoun represented the Mighty Maroons in two weight classes last year, 119 and 126, and will probably represent the Stars at 119.

PERHAPS the biggest catch Whitaker has made this season is the acquisition of heavyweight Brian Miller, also a 1984 graduate of Belleville West.

Miller, who was West's sole representative in the state tournament, will wrestle heavyweight for the Stars.

Granite Cityans are familiar with Whitaker's next two recruits. The first, Mark Dowdy, is a 1984 graduate of Granite City High School.

Dowdy, who qualified for state in 1983 as a high school junior, was hindered by a knee injury his senior year, and consequently, did not survive sectional competition.

FROM a fine wrestling family, Dowdy is the younger brother of last year's GCC standout Ken Dowdy and will study heating and air conditioning and welding at GCC.

The second Granite City recruit is Ken Paterson, a 1983 graduate from Granite City North. Paterson, who will be coached by Whitaker for the second time in his career, will represent the Stars at 167 pounds.

Paterson, like Hayden, will major in law enforcement.

In addition to Whitaker's new acquisitions, the Stars will have the services of Chuck Gardner, 128 pounds, Darren Lindsey, 142 pounds, and Jeff Nichols at 150 pounds, returning to the squad from last year's team.

GGC's schedule for the 1984-85 season tentatively consists of 18 pairings, including three tournaments. The Stars will be scheduled to open their season on Saturday, Nov. 10, against Meramec Junior College and Washington University at Meramec.

Assisting Whitaker this season will be Mike Garland, a former Granite City High School graduate, who assisted Warrior Coach Bill "Red" Schmitt at Granite City High School South.

NEW STARS. Walt Whitaker, (left) Granite City Center's head wrestling coach, stands with three of his latest recruits. Next to Whitaker is Chuck Hayden, from Collinsville, Ken Paterson, and Mark Dowdy, both of whom are from Granite City. Whitaker announced the recruitment of two more new Stars, Brian Miller and Bob Calhoun, were they did not attend the session. The Stars open their season Nov. 10.

Former Warrior Lipe wins tennis tournament

David Lipe, Granite City High School's number one boys' singles tennis player this spring, won the South St. Louis County Junior Open tennis tournament.

Lipe, competing in the 18-year-old division, defeated Fairmont City's Eddie Ablett Monday night 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 to secure the championship. Because both of the finalists are from the Metro-East area, the championship match was played at the Wilson Park tennis courts. Lipe, who will attend Principia College in Eliza this fall, was named to the First All-Metro High School Team selected by the Belleville News-Democrat.

An Illinois state qualifier this year, Lipe won three matches before bowing out of the tournament which was held Memorial Day weekend in Arlington Heights.

Coolidge's Kindie named Coach of the Year

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

For the second consecutive year, a Granite City coach has been named "Coach of the Year" by the Illinois Basketball Coaches' Association.

Paul "Buzz" Kindie, who led his eighth grade boys' basketball team at Coolidge Junior High to an 11-4 record, a conference championship and post-season tournament championship, received the honor this spring at a ceremony held at Illinois State University.

Kindie followed in the footsteps of last year's award recipient Jim Davis, who coached at Grigsby last season. Kindie felt that Davis' team was an inspiration to this year's Coolidge team.

"Once in a while when you have winning teams, like Jim Davis' last year, it almost like an inspiration to the rest of the teams," Kindie said of Davis' 1983 season.

"Of course we were jealous. But we saw that a team from Granite City could be successful, and that really helped us as we prepared for the tournament. We went in ranked fourth, but we really felt that we could win the tournament."

"It made a big difference in our attitude. I think that's really it. I think the turn around is the attitude of the kids. Nothing helps like a little success," Kindie said.

A turn around was definitely the key this year for Coolidge. After a disastrous season as seventh graders and three losses to begin their eighth grade campaign, the Braves rebounded to win 11 of their next 12 contests. This reversal is what Coach Kindie feels constituted his nomination for coach of the year.

"I think I received the award this year because of the turn around in the team. As seventh graders these kids were 1-13. We lost our first three out of four games this year, then we finally hit our stride.

"We went on to win the conference championship and the tournament. I guess that's what was taken into consideration," Kindie said regarding his candidacy for the award.

Kindie, who has coached at Coolidge for six years, enjoys

A native of Roxana, Kindie went to school at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He continues to live in Roxana with his wife Cindy and three daughters Paula 18, Joli 16, and Kelli 10.

During his years at Roxana High School, Kindie played were five individuals out there. By the end of the year they worked together beautifully on offense and defense."

In the eighth grade, one kid is not going to have enough talent to carry a team. We've had great scorers in the past but we couldn't compliment them.

"I think this team, more than any other I've coached, figured out the need to play together. I think they will be highly competitive at the high school level. They are going to have the size and strength they need," Kindie said.

Kindie went on to mention his 6-foot 3-inch center, Scott Moore, who gave his team the added dimension of height. Moore along with Jeff Grote accounted for most of the team's scoring.

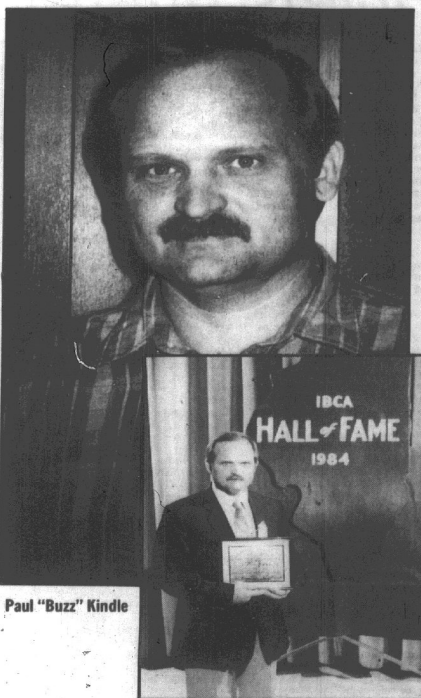

"The basketball program in Granite City is improving greatly. They had the best freshman record they ever had this year. We're turning out some good basketball players now," said Kindie.

"With the mixing of that group from Grigsby and Coolidge we've given Don (Deterding) a real shot in the arm. I think he's more optimistic now than he's ever been since I've worked with him. There are back to back teams coming up now which are going to supply him with a good nucleus for a varsity team."

Kindie credited the progress of the Granite City program with a revived interest in basketball. Some of that credit went to the Mitchell Athletic Club's winter basketball league for elementary students.

"The kids are starting to be exposed to basketball more. They are becoming more basketball oriented. Now you see kids playing in the off season on blacktop courts."

"To build a better team they have to get out and play basketball. There has to be leagues where they can play," said Kindie. "I wouldn't care if they even kept score or not, just let them play and get a chance to like the game."

Wednesday Night

GC Juniors sweep past Greenville

By AL BARNES
of the Press-Record

Sure-fielding Todd Hinstenter, second baseman of the Junior American Legion Kelly Hogan squad, battled himself into a rut last night at Varsity Field on Fehling Road.

But, oh, what a beautiful rut. He went three-for-four and blasted in seven runs to lead Kelly Hogan to a 13-3 victory over Greenville, in a game shortened by the 10 p.m. rule.

All he did was to crack out three straight triples and in the process drive in seven tallies. Yes, what a beautiful rut.

The Kelly Hogan offense, however, wasn't all Hinstenter. Not by a long shot. Speedy center fielder, Tim Hogan, went two for three and scored three times while driving in a run; his twin brother, Jamie, playing beautifully at short, scored three times but was one for four.

Scott LeVault, sharp in five innings of pitching, blasted a two-run four-bagger in the third when Granite City captured the lead for good. Todd Adamitis, Dan Robertson, Dave Bamper, Mike Georgeff and Tim Patterson all connected for one hit apiece.

Right-handed throwing LeVault looked brilliant on the mound for the Granite City team: he gave up four hits, but only Steve Duncan's home run to leadoff the Greenville fourth was a real, honest-to-goodness hit.

In a double tie frame he had given up a double to leadoff man, Joe Ketchum, who should have never scored except for LeVault's own error in throwing to third attempting to nail Ketchum.

LeVault gave up three walks and the final one, a one-out free trip to Todd Hutchison, a pinch-hitter, who scored two men later when catcher Vernon Heuer, on a perfect hit-and-run, doubled Dealey (who had walked) home with the losers' third and last tally. LeVault fanned three, too.

Paul Kacera, manager of the Kelly Hogan nine and his assistant, Carl Jensen, were pleased with the players' performances, and both predicted that, despite their team being the youngest in the league, both Western and Eastern Divisions, their team would make the playoffs.

Now 4-6 in Legion competition and 9-6 overall, the Granite City Juniors face a really tough weekend. Saturday, it'll be a pair, not a double-header, when they'll do battle with East St. Louis in a 1 p.m. game at Varsity field, and then at 4 p.m., they will tangle with the always tough Edwardsville club.

These pair of games will make the half-way point in the season.

Sheridan in Army Soccer Classic

Matt Sheridan, of 2823 Grand Avenue, Granite City, and a 1984 graduate of Granite City High School, will play in the Army Soccer Classic, America's first high school all-star game this Saturday, June 30 at West Point, N.Y.

He will be a member of the West squad for the game, scheduled for 2 p.m. at the US Military Academy's Clinton Field. ESPN cable television network will broadcast an one-hour game highlights program on August 24 and 25.

Sheridan, who plays the sweeper position, was a 4-year letterman for Granite City High School. In his senior year, Sheridan was named team captain, MVP, All-Tournament at the Illinois State Tournament, Army College Fund MVP, All-State, All-Mid West, Parade Magazine All-America and NSCAA All-America.

The Army Soccer Classic is sponsored by the Army College Fund, in cooperation with the National Soccer Coaches Association of America

(NSCAA). The Army College Fund (ACF) is a program under which qualified high school graduates can earn money for college through enlistment in the US Army.

The all-star game is one element in the Army Soccer Program, a cooperative effort between the NSCAA and the ACF. Other elements in the soccer program include the High School Soccer Clinic series, a group of 10 national clinics for coaches and students featuring a national-level staff; the Most Valuable Soccer Player Award, a trophy and certificate presented to the top male and female senior soccer players in high schools nationwide; and a series of soccer instructional films available to coaches through local Army recruiting offices.

More than 4,500 coaches and students from 1,800 high schools participated in Army College Fund soccer activities in 1983.

Sport: to amuse oneself; a source of diversion — pastime; physical activity engaged in for pleasure. — The Merriam-Webster Dictionary

I recently returned from a two-week vacation in the West. Needless to say, it was a lot better than the ski vacation I took last February. At least I returned without a cast on my leg.

On this trip, I took a much slower pace. I spent enough time to stop and smell the roses, as they say in social circles.

A few things I paid particular attention to were the differing ways people in the West spend their leisure time, or sports time.

We, my wife Leslie and I, drove straight through to Yosemite National Park in Northern California. So, naturally, the first three days were spent noticing little more than the bug-riddled wind shield and huge truck stops, literally the only oases between long stretches of highway.

The day after arriving in Yosemite, I noticed a group of men playing a game that immediately reminded me of soccer dribbling drills we're more accustomed with here in the Midwest.

Called Hacki Sac, a group of three or more (usually men), kick a small bean bag, about two inches square, to each other. The object of the game is to keep the bag in play — much like dribbling a soccer ball — as long as possible without allowing it to touch the ground.

Persons can use any part of the body, except their arms, to keep the bag in play. The object, obviously, is to keep the bag "dribbling" as long as possible, but also to avoid being the one who allows the bag to "go out," as they say when touches earth.

In San Francisco, the major preoccupation, with free time — other than flagging down one of the renovated cable cars — seems to be a combination of sport and fashion.

Concentrated along the dozen or so piers at Fishermen's Wharf, are the joggers of the common sort, but joggers of the Pierre Cardin, Yves St. Laurent, John Weitz and Calvin Klein variety. The "I-don't-care-about-how-fast-I-run-as-long-as-I-look-like-a-million-dollar-jogger."

No kidding. And they were everywhere!

Women, men, college kids and some even looked like vacationers who were trying not to look like vacationers.

In fact, the joggers appeared to be thicker than the flies in the open fish markets. We spent the day on the wharf and never once saw someone who looked like an authentic fisherman, but there were hundreds of joggers.

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenecker

After San Francisco, we swung northeast to Montana where we did something that I've long wanted to do — we whitewater rafted.

Fed by the melting snows of the surrounding mountains, the Gallatin River provided a scenic backdrop for the expedition.

On Day Day, June 6, we rafted. Little has to be said about rafting except that it's fantastic, fast and generally very cold.

Wearing wet suits, a life jacket, a helmet and scuba diving booties to protect your feet from the near ice cold water, the trip was one of the best experiences of the vacation.

At times, it was both exhilarating and even somewhat frightening. Truly a memorable experience, and I recommend it wholeheartedly.

Heading south from Montana to Sedalia, Colorado, I came across the most intriguing sport of the trip.

Called a Ride and Tie, this sport combined both cross country running and equestrian skills. This particular Ride and Tie was held at the Singing Hills Arabian Horse Ranch. My uncle, Dick Williams, owns a horse ranch in Sedalia and he filled me in on the details.

In Ride and Tie competition, a team consists of two persons and a horse. In this competition, most horses were Arabians, because of the endurance bred into them.

Basically, a Ride and Tie is a race. A race where the three team members play an equal part in the competition. It pits a combination of three aspects into the race, a good horse, good riders and good cross country runners.

Essentially, there are three rules for competing. First, all three members of the team must cross the finish line before a finishing time can be recorded. Secondly, the horse cannot advance unless one of the team members is riding it, hence the name Ride and Tie. One person rides for a period of time, then ties the horse so the running team member can rest upon the horse.

And, the third rule, only one person at a single time can ride the horse.

This particular Ride and Tie featured two races, a 20-mile and a 12-mile. At about 6,000 feet altitude, over rocky terrain, the Ride and Tie has to be one of the most strenuous forms of competition short of running a marathon.

Perhaps the most interesting part of Ride and Tie, was the varying strategies each team had for switching riders. Some changed very frequently, say every quarter mile. Others changed every mile, others went every other mile and still others changed a lot less frequently.

Those who did the best seemed to change about every mile. Although each strategy had seemingly good reasons for how often they changed, the mile change seemed to be the most reasonable. Too many ties, and too much time was spent mounting and dismounting the horse. Too few ties and, generally, the overall finishing time suffered because neither the horse nor the runners got the needed rest.

Another interesting aspect of Ride and Ties is the excellent care and caution that is taken with the horses. In addition to total physical examinations given to each horse before the race, there are also checkpoints along the course which monitors the horse's vital statistics: respiration, pulse, temperature, a dehydration check and a final check, called cardio recapitulation, which monitored the horse's blood flow. All tests, incidentally, were performed by veterinarians.

Humans, however, were less tested and prodded. All they needed to do was come and sign on the line.

Legend has it that the American Indian was the first to utilize the Ride and Tie method of travel. According to legend, a pair of Indians crossed the desert using the Ride and Tie method.

Another legend has it that a father and son duo used the Ride and Tie method to catch a group of horses, and cattle rustlers who stole everything but one horse. It was that horse, legend says, that the duo used to successfully catch and apprehend the rustlers. See, and you thought baseball was America's pastime.

Signup for Park's second indoor season

The Granite City Park District is currently registering teams that wish to participate in its second indoor soccer season.

According to Recreation Director John Lakin, teams may register for the 10-week season immediately by calling the Wilson Park office during business hours at 877-3659.

Lakin said the men's teams, which include several men's college soccer players, will play a 5-week schedule, playing twice a week. Lakin said this was necessary so many of the athletes could wrap up their indoor season before returning to college. Fees for the league, which is slated to begin on July 16, are $150 for adults and $125 for youth teams. Persons may register for men's, women's co-ed or youth teams.

'Friends' host 16-team tourney

Friends of Scouting, a non-profit organization whose purpose is to assist scouting and youth in Madison County, is sponsoring a benefit men's 16-team double-elimination softball tournament at the Third and Cambridge Street diamond in Madison, Aug. 10-12.

First-round action will begin Friday night and will conclude Sunday with the championship.

Persons seeking further information about the tourney should call Bill Weidner at 876-1063 or Rick Hooks at 856-8835 or write to: Friends of Scouting, P.O. Box 663, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

The deadline for team registration is July 20.

As Juniors Win Again Roe paces MAC Juniors to win

By CHARLIE SKAER of the Press-Record

MITCHELL — Matt Roe made his return to the Mitchell Jr. Armveteran Legion baseball team in grand fashion Tuesday night.

Roe had been absent from the Mitchell lineup for the past eight games, primarily because he attended a church camp in Mount Vernon last week. But he made his presence known Tuesday as he held Edwardsville to just two hits in four innings of relief pitching and belted a triple in the bottom of the seventh that sent home two runs to give Mitchell a 3-2 come-from-behind victory.

Roe's relief performance was especially impressive because the Mitchell player usually plays behind the plate or is substituted as a utility infielder. He said he'd rather be catching the pitches than throwing them.

"I HADLY ever pitch," said Roe after the game. "I just didn't want to go out for pitching this year."

But Mitchell coach Myron Merz saw the quality of Roe's pitching during a 12-11 contest June 8 against Greenville. Roe came in as a relief pitcher and recorded the save.

"Now he's worried that he's going to be a pitcher," said Merz with a laugh. "But I told him he's going to stay a catcher."

Merz said his decision to send in Roe came before the start of Tuesday's game.

"He was the only one I had who hadn't pitched in a while," explained Merz. "I had told (starting pitcher) Tim Stanton that he would only be pitching a few innings."

"THE LAST time Tim started was at Alton and he talked me into letting him stay in all seven innings. But that was too much. He's just now getting over that workout."

Edwardsville was on top throughout the majority of the game after scoring two runs off of Stanton in the second inning. Bob Sirtak hit a home run over the head of left fielder Kurt Hyla that put Edwardsville on top, 1-0. Brent Krebs followed with a triple to center and was driven by a single past third by Chris Burns.

Edwardsville hurler Steve Stewart closely guarded his team's 2-0 lead. The left-handed pitcher held Mitchell to just two hits in the first five innings, a single by Billy Moore in the first and another by Greg Ehlers in the second.

"I WAS a bit worried," said Merz. "He (Stewart) was a good pitcher. But I think the problem was that we haven't seen a left-hander all season."

Derek Merz ended Stewart's shutout in the sixth inning. Merz knocked a double to center to drive in Greg Nemeth, who was on base after being given a walk.

Roe, meanwhile, kept Edwardsville from scoring by using some control of his own. After relieving Stanton in the top of the fourth, Roe allowed only three baserunners for the remainder of the game — giving up a walk in the fourth and a single in both the fifth and sixth innings. But Roe used a pickoff throw to first to nab the fourth-inning runner and catcher Merz threw the other two runners out at second during steal attempts to put an end to Edwardsville's scoring threats.

EDWARDSVILLE'S southpaw, however, seemed to lose his control in the seventh inning. Stewart hit leadoff batter Greg Ehlers on the foot to start Mitchell's scoring drive. Eric Gray then bunted in an attempt to move Ehlers to second. But Gray wound up with a single when both Stewart and first baseman Tim Klingisch went to field the ball and Gray raced to the base ahead of the tag.

Steve Davis recorded the first out of the inning, popping out to shortstop Sirtak. But reliever Roe then stepped up to the plate and helped his own cause by hitting a long fly ball into center for a standup triple that drove in Ehlers and Roe to give Mitchell a 3-2 victory.

"I BROUGHT him (Roe) a high one and he took it," said Stewart. "I just lost my concentration."

The triple was a double disappointment for Stewart. A week earlier, he had a no-hitter ruined by a single past third off of the hurler from Greenville.

"I haven't been so lucky against pitchers lately," said Stewart.

The win against Edwardsville upped Mitchell's record to 11-2. Edwardsville dropped to 10-4.

Mitchell's next game is scheduled for Friday in a 6 p.m. home contest against East St. Louis.

Dance competition on tap for Salem School students

Dance students at the Salem School of Dance will be participating in various dance competitions this month and next.

The students, who successfully competed last month in St. Louis, will advance to the Midwest finals in St. Louis this month and to the finals of other talent competitions in St. Louis and Memphis next month.

Salem School of Dance, 1910 Delmar Ave., received second place for the best overall academy at the Stage-Door Productions, Inc. judging last month at the Holiday Inn in St. Louis.

The trophy was awarded for obtaining first-place scores in at least 85 percent of the entries. Twelve of 15 entries won first place awards, while three received second place awards.

Of the winners, six received perfect scores. First place finishers were Stacey Turpenoff for tap solo, Dea Caschetta for character solo, Shelley Justice and Kim Myracle for jazz solos, Heather Kraus for jazz and tap solo, Kristi Davidson for jazz and character solo, Vicki and Shelley Justice for novelty duet, and Beth Caschetta and Heather Justice for novelty duet.

GC students find school can be fun

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Schools must not forget the basics—reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic. They also need to include an even broader range of instruction, to help children gain knowledge, motivation and the ability to relate to people and day-to-day life.

And school days can be both interesting and fun, as attested to by these photographs of primary graders in Granite City Community Unit School District Nine. The photos, taken near the close of the 1983-84 year, illustrate the diversity of activities in typical classrooms.

Parkview physical education taught by Anna L. Johnson—Third graders Bill Alexander high jumps in the multi-purpose room.

Mitchell first grade class of Phyllis S. Brusati—Melissa Ross is attired as a Stegosaurus dinosaur during a study of dinosaurs. Dioramas show the giants in their ancient natural settings.

Parkview second grade class of Linda L. McDonnell—The teacher is shown helping produce her pupils' weekly newspaper, aided by the class members, who include Kristi Melton (right).

Maryville third grade students of Margaret L. Graves—Udell Meyer explains bees' habits and bee-keeping gear and equipment. He brought a glassed-in beehive and the study session ended with the pupils eating honey on bread.

By JEFF HERMAN

When Ralph Greene directed the first Unity Ensemble theater production in East St. Louis, only 12 people attended the show. "We kept performing for four nights as if we had a full audience," Greene said. That first production was "The Amen Corner," staged nearly 10 years ago. Since then, the audiences have grown. In 1982, more than 1,300 attended the Unity Ensemble production of the musical "Purlie."

BUT "PURLIE" was an exception. More often than not, there are plenty of empty seats at the East St. Louis Development Corporation (ESLIDEC) Community Theatre, the stage home for Unity Ensemble. Greene, an artist-in-residence at the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, continues to seek consistent community support for his company's theatrical efforts. "We are producing quality theater at the cheapest price around, yet we still can't get the response from the community that says we're behind what you're doing," he said.

Unity Ensemble, this year, offered its first subscription season. Of 900 pamphlets promoting the season mailed to East St. Louis residents, only five were returned. "I say I'm disappointed, but I'm not. If people are not coming, there is a reason."

THE PROBLEM, Greene said, is gaining the attention of the community. "How do you get people's attention for theater when there are so many other things competing for their attention?" he asked.

Greene said he hopes to use live music or a searchlight outside the theater before shows to get the attention of nearby residents.

"I'm optimistic that this year we will find a change in the response of the community because of the things we have planned," he said.

Greene's plans include the possible addition of one more person to the Unity Ensemble staff of three and further renovation of the ESLIDEC Community Theatre.

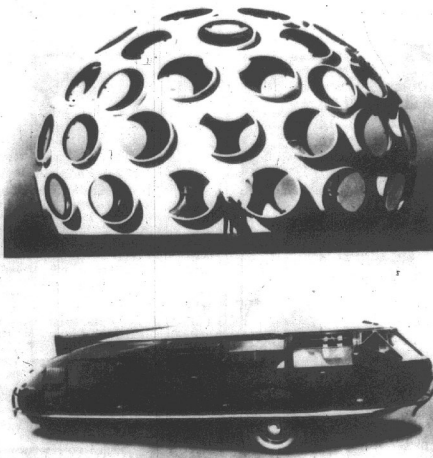

"The university has been supportive in leasing the building for the theater," he said. "But it goes beyond the leasing of the building. It seems the mission of the university is one that recognizes the importance of this effort to the East St. Louis community."

UNITY ENSEMBLE is part of the Katherine Dunham Center for the Performing Arts at the SIUE East St. Louis Center.

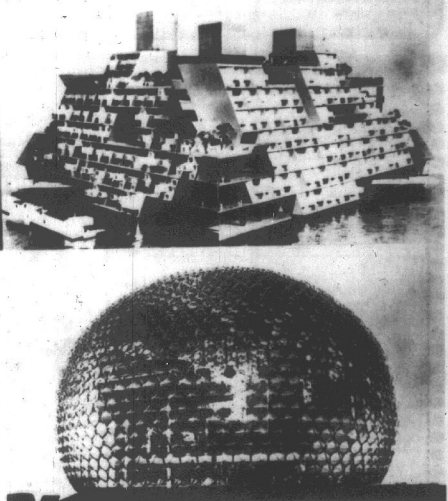

Greene said he also expects to receive continued support from the Illinois Arts Council. "Our thrust is community-oriented," he said. "We provide a service which is an extension of services the Illinois Arts Council provides in this part of the state."

Greene said the successful production and performance of theater requires "a lot of energy, a lot of love and a lot of care."

With the support of East St. Louis residents, he expects the tenth year of Unity Ensemble will be the best.

FULLERTHINGS: This composite features four of the works from the memorial exhibition, "World of R. Buckminster Fuller," in the University Art Gallery at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville through July 11. Described variously as an engineer, architect, mathematician, inventor, poet, philosopher and global citizen, Fuller was a major influence on his generation. He was named a research professor in 1959 and was closely associated with the development of the local university campus. The exhibition is free and open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. It is presented by the SIUE Office of University Museums and is partially sponsored by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council a state agency.

PRAYER TO application:
To the Holy Spirit, you who light all roads so that I can obtain my goal, you who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me, and that in all instances of my life you are with me, I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you. Even inspite of all material loss, I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say this prayer for three consecutive days. After three days favor requested will be granted, even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted. Only your initials should appear at the bottom. C.C. # 77-2.

Pontoon Beach board sets jail time for DUI offenders

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
of the Press-Record

Drivers under the influence of alcohol or drugs may find themselves in jail if they are picked up by Pontoon Beach police. The Pontoon Beach Village Board of Trustees Tuesday night approved an ordinance setting a maximum jail term of six months for DUI offenders.

The ordinance was requested by Police Chief Chet Ballew, who said approval of the village law would bring Pontoon Beach into compliance with Illinois state statutes.

The new ordinance sets a fine of not less than $50 and not more than $500 for DUI violations.

The board also passed an ordinance increasing road limits on village streets from three to five feet. Board President Paul Bennett told the board members, "The main purpose of the five tons is to be compatible with Nameeki Township. I don't see any way we can enforce our limit when we've got five tons on either side of the road."

In other action, the board passed a resolution to oil and chip Georgetown Drive on the north side of the village. John Hales, a representative of the village's engineers, Sheppard, Morgan and Schaefer, said the board's cost of the project could come from motor fuel tax funds.

Bennett said the village currently has about $80,000 in the motor fuel tax fund. "Those people deserve a street," he said.

Bennett cited records which showed that the village was dedicated to Pontoon Beach in 1967 by First Granite City National Bank. Under the motor fuel tax provision, the village can use gasoline taxes to maintain the street. The board chose to oil and chip the street over two other alternatives.

Hales said Pontoon Beach could "blade" the base and pave it with asphalt at a cost of $22,000, adding that the village could pursue funding from community development funds.

Another alternative was to put in a new street at an estimated cost of $50,000. Bennett said, "We can't put a permanent roadway in there at this time."

With the approval of the oil and chip project, the board authorized Hales to prepare a motor fuel maintenance contract with the state. Hales said that, with the proper preparation, the project might be the end of summer before actual work could begin on the street.

A $1,000 check from the Pontoon Beach Lions Club was accepted by the board. Bennett said the money is to be used on flags or Christmas decorations.

"We could use a nice flagpole and flag. The senior citizens then could have our existing flag and pole," he said.

Dixon defends corn exporters

Senator Alan J. Dixon has introduced a resolution stating the U.S. Senate's opposition to the European Economic Community's proposal to limit the amount of corn gluten feed exported to the European Community by the U.S.

"This is a vital economic issue to Illinois," Dixon said. "Illinois produces nearly 30 percent of the corn gluten feed manufactured in the U.S. and last year we exported 3.6 million metric tons to the EC at a value of $560 million."

In its major provisions, "Dixon's resolution:

1. States that the administration should continue to firmly oppose any restriction by the EC on imports of non-grain feed ingredients, including corn gluten feed.

2. Asserts that any imposition of a restriction on corn gluten feed exports and fats by the EC would restrain trade and violate the tariff limits in GATT (General Agreements on Trade and Commerce) on soybeans and soybean products.

3. Claims that, should unilateral action be taken by the EC to restrict importation of corn gluten feed ingredients, including soybean products, the U.S. should immediately impose trade restrictions on a sufficient number of EC exports to the U.S. to reestablish the balance of concessions under the General Agreements on Trade and Commerce.

The resolution is the third in two years that the Senate has had to respond to proposed "retorsions" by the EC which have threatened our market.

"It is imperative that our trading partners understand we will no longer stand idly by and watch our markets being attacked and threatened."

Employees acquire National subsidiary

An employee group of National Inter-Tech, Inc., a subsidiary of National Intergraph, Inc., has acquired the major assets of National Inter-Tech.

The new company, known as National Engineers and Associates, Inc., is located in St. Louis County.

The company provides multidisciplinary engineering, architecture and construction management.

"In a unique blend of professional engineering and architecture and high technology, National Engineers and Associates offers complete engineering, architecture, construction management, and computer-aided process controls to a wide variety of clients," a spokesman said.

Principals of the firm include Clyde S. Hale, Daniel J. Metzger and Roger L. Tanner as officers. Dr. Donald F. Cairns, former president of National Inter-Tech, is the senior consultant. Richard P. Schneider is the consulting architect. Dr. Cairns is a former officer of Granite City Steel.

The engineers and architects bring a combined experience record of 190 years to their clients in industry, commercial and industrial buildings and public works," the spokesman concluded.

BOOKED ON 2 WARRANTS
Edward L. Hays, 18, of 2033 Fifth St., Madison, was arrested last week in the 1900 block of Edwardsville Road on two 45-year-old warrants alleging failure to appear in court on charges of unlawful possession of cannabis and not having a valid driver's license.

Timing of new road obstacle to KC pact

George Brimm, a representative of residents living in the Norwood and Briarcliff subdivisions, said Tuesday night he was not optimistic about a possible agreement between his group and the Knights of Columbus on "ground rules" for KC use of the former Johnson School.

Brimm said the residents will meet at 11 a.m. Saturday at 1371 Norwood Drive to discuss their course of action.

The Knights, who are seeking rezoning of the Johnson campus, and the residents explored the possibility of the city cooperating in purchase of land on which a private road to the site could be constructed. The land would be property that the city would use to complete the Melrose Drainage Project.

The Knights reasoned that the city is going to have to purchase the land for the project sooner or later. They said they would be willing to incur the cost of creating an access road along the ditch. This road they would share with persons going to the Knights of Columbus facility as well as by city workers.

But Mayor Schuler said that the city would not be ready to start on Melrose drainage for at least two years and that acquisition of the property for the project would take at least one year.

Residents had been hoping for a private road for the club within 18 months. Concern had been expressed in past meetings about poor roads and lack of sidewalks in the subdivisions.

Residents feel the additional traffic created by wedding receptions and bingo games at the Knights facility would further deteriorate their roads and would be a safety hazard to children who play in the neighborhood.

Mayor Schuler said there are road improvements planned for the area, but residents said they would only agree to the rezoning if a private road could be constructed.

Ownership change is set for Aug. 1

Post Corporation has announced that the Federal Communications Commission has approved transfer of its radio and television licenses and therefore the sale of the company to a subsidiary of Gillett Communications, Inc., Nashville, Tenn., can go ahead after a 40-day waiting period.

The waiting period is necessary for the FCC order to become final. Post and Gillett have set Aug. 1 as the closing date of the sale.

Post, headquartered in Appleton, Wis., publishes newspapers and operates TV and radio stations and commercial printing plants in nine states. The publications include the Press-Record and the Collinsville Herald.

Gillett is a private firm, controlled by George N. Gillett Jr., which among other properties owns Television Station WSMV-TV in Nashville, Tenn., and Packerland Packing Co., Green Bay, Wis.

When the sale is closed, Post stockholders will receive $65 per share.

The FCC granted approval of the transfer of Post's broadcast licenses on June 10. Under terms of the agreement with Gillett, Post will not pay its regular second quarter dividend.

Gordon says issues 'muddling' hiring of more Madison police

Thomas Gordon, chairman of Madison's city finance committee, said this week at least two issues are causing delays in the hiring of more policemen.

The police staffing shortage has been a topic of discussion in recent months due to the resignation or retirement of four officers, none yet replaced by the city. These officers include Frank Baczewski, William Weidner, Norris Horton and Richard Asperger.

Gordon said there "is no doubt" that police commissioners will need to meet in the near future to discuss replacements for the men.

Paul Lunsford, president of the Madison Police Commissioners, said last week that no recommendations had been made by his group since Weidner resigned. He said the commissioners requested that the Weidner vacancy be filled, but that it was not done.

Gordon said Wednesday that no council action has been taken on the commission's recommendation. "I guess the council felt (at the time of Weidner's resignation) that there was no real crisis in the police department," he said. "But now it appears that something needs to be done."

Finding more police is urgent, he said, while adding that several issues are "muddling the waters."

One of the problems is that a police academy training program will not start in this region until September. "I don't know how good it would be to put a man in uniform before he has this training," said Gordon. "We're kind of handicapped in this respect."

Police Chief Don Bridick verified that the training does not start until September. He did say, however, that a probationary officer could take firearms training (a weekend course) and serve the city until entering the 10-week academy program.

Gordon said another concern with the hiring is the wish expressed by many that a black officer be hired. With the retirement of Horton, there are no black officers on the police force although there is a substantial minority population.

Chief Bridick said black residents who took the police examination placed fourth and twelfth on the list based on their scores. He has been in contact with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to ask its opinion about how to deal with the objective of continuing the black representation in the department.

Hirings are made from the top man down, he said, making it improbable that the fourth man would be hired unless one or more of the top three declined a police position. Considerations such as oral exam scores and physical ability also could move black applicants higher on the list than their written scores would indicate.

"We're aware that we do need some policemen," said Gordon. "But all of these matters are coming into play when considering the hirings."

He said he does not wish to encroach on the authority of the police commissioners, and feels they are weighing the issues.

Bricklayers okay year's wage freeze

Bricklayers District Council Two of Southwest Illinois and the Southwest Illinois Mason Contractors Association have jointly announced that, after lengthy but amiable negotiations, an agreement on a new one-year contract has been reached.

In an effort "to promote a better labor atmosphere and to create a more favorable and competitive economic climate for masonry construction in Central and Southern Illinois," the bricklayers District Council and the Mason Contractors have agreed to a one-year freeze on wage increases.

The bricklayers union and the contractors association anticipate that the wage freeze coupled with more liberal work rules will provide an incentive for architects, builders and buyers of construction to make greater use of masonry products.

This agreement covers the Illinois Council of St. Clair, Madison, Bond, Calhoun, Clinton, Fayette, Jersey, Macoupin, Marion, Monroe, Montgomery and Washington.

Cheaper license plates for some aged, disabled

Legislation proposed by Sen. of State Jim Edgar to provide low-income senior citizens and disabled persons with a 50 percent reduction in license plate fees ($24 of $48) has been passed by the General Assembly and sent to the governor.

"I'm pleased the Assembly approved the fee reduction I felt was essential to help the elderly and disabled on small fixed incomes. Lower fees are especially appropriate for senior citizens because they use Illinois highways the least," Edgar said.

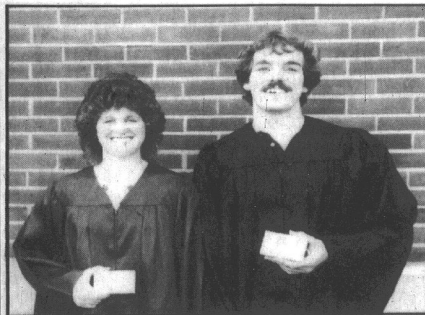

"This is the first registration fee reduction for seniors in Illinois history. It will benefit only those in need because eligibility is limited to those who qualify for Circuit Breaker tax relief benefits, which are available only to people earning less than $12,000 a year. License fees have become a heavier burden on the poor since they were increased by the General Assembly last year."

Edgar estimated there are currently 255,234 senior citizens age 65 and older and 58,766 disabled persons receiving the benefits.

Nine other states offer some form of reduced registration fees for senior citizens or disabled vehicle owners, including Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and South Dakota.

During 1985, the state expects to collect $518 million in registration fees, of which $192 million would come from fee increases. This legislation would reduce the anticipated revenue by $5 million. The other $513 million will go into the road fund.

'Pot' harms children's lungs and their learning ability, group says

Lee Ann Baker, regional director of the Lewis-Clark Branch of the American Lung Association of Illinois, attended a workshop in Springfield where a new Lung Association program, "Marijuana: A Second Look" was introduced.

"Don't let your lungs go to pot" is the slogan of the program to influence 8-, 10- and 11-year-old children not to use marijuana. The program will be introduced into schools in this region in the fall of 1984.

The First Lady, Nancy Reagan, is honorary chairman of the marijuana education program, which was developed by the American Lung Association in cooperation with the American Council for Drug Education.

Cast members of the TV program "Fame" are serving as role model spokespersons in public service announcements and personal appearances to urge youngsters not to use the drug.

The project presents evidence that smoking marijuana is a major threat to American lung health and is especially damaging to the developing lungs of young people.

The "Marijuana: A Second Look" program will also explain to youngsters, their families and educators that "marijuana has adverse effects on ability to learn and on memory, perception and judgment."

In addition, use results in loss of motivation and energy; diminishes school performance; and procedures behavioral disruptions with friends, parents and society, it is asserted.

Additional information about the project is available from the American Lung Association Lewis-Clark Region office at 523 old St. Louis Road in Wood River.

Materials include a colorful poster with the cast of "Fame" and a magazine for children on the reverse side; a news magazine, designed to assist parents of children who will be experiencing peer pressure to smoke "pot"; and a leader's guide for teachers and community youth leaders with activities for children.

ALLEGED MAN DISORDERLY

Responding to a call from the 400 block of Kirkpatrick Homes during the weekend, officers found a group of people around a man on the ground. The man, identified as Donald R. Garris, 30, of 406 Kirkpatrick, was charged with disorderly conduct.

STEALS BICYCLES

Two bicycles, one valued at $105, were stolen in a garage burglary at the home of Dimitar Terziowski, 2823 Madison Ave., he reported at 7:25 p.m. Tuesday. One of the machines was recovered in the 2900 block alley, he said.

SERVE WARRANT ON DRIVER

After she was brought into Granite City police headquarters by an Illinois state trooper on another matter at 3:20 a.m. Sunday, a local warrant, alleging failure to appear on traffic charges, was served on Tammy Byington, 21, St. Louis.

LOSES RING WORTH $7,200

An emerald-cut diamond ring with two baguettes, valued at $7,200, was lost or stolen while its owner, Merle Willis of Crestwood, Mo., was in a Granite City tavern during the weekend.

Hebrews 13:5... "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee."

Can you say these words about anyone you know? At some time in your life everyone you know will disappoint you in some way. There is only one who will never leave you nor forsake you.

HE WILL STICK CLOSER TO YOU THAN A BROTHER.

HE WILL LOVE YOU WITH THE TENDER, UNDERSTANDING LOVE OF A MOTHER.

HE WILL PROTECT YOU WITH THE STRONG AND FIERCE LOVE OF A FATHER.

His name is Jesus. He loved you enough to die on the cross for you. Will you accept his love today?

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When an individual has a will prepared, one decision that must be made is who will serve as the executor. The function of the executor is to collect any monies owing to the estate and to make sure outstanding bills of the deceased are paid. In addition, the executor manages the estate until it is settled, which may involve engaging a lawyer and other advisors in some cases.

Illinois law requires an individual executor to be over the age of eighteen, a resident of the United States, and a person of sound mind. Contrary to popular opinion, an executor does not have to be a resident of Illinois. Thus a person making a will in this state can name an individual residing in a different part of the country as executor.

In light of these duties and requirements, what type of individual should one choose as his executor? Most knowledgeable people would recommend that the person making a will name someone who is impartial and completely trustworthy to serve in this capacity. In addition, it would be helpful if the designated person has some degree of business expertise and be familiar with family affairs of the individual who named him as executor.

A person does not have to name an individual serve as executor. A bank can also be designated to serve in this capacity. One advantage to naming a bank is that you don't have to worry about the death of the executor as is the case with an individual executor. A bank trust officer may also have more expertise in handling complex business transactions than would a relative or friend. Of course, a bank's trust department will charge a fee for their services as executor.

Recently an individual came to this office to have a will prepared. This person had accumulated substantial assets during his lifetime. Due to the complexity in his business affairs, he wanted to name an executor who was familiar with his family situation but yet also had the necessary expertise to competently perform his duties. In this case, it was recommended that the individual name his son as co-executor with a local bank's trust department. He established this arrangement because he felt his son would be familiar with family needs and at the same time be able to look to the professional executor for management and guidance.

Park Craft Show Sunday

VARIOUS HANDCRAFTED ITEMS will be featured by 61 exhibitors at the Granite City Park District's Summer Craft Show in the Wilson Park ice rink Sunday. The public is invited to attend from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Among those displaying handcrafts for sale, starting from the top photo, clockwise, are: Pat Hewlett, Sharon Parker and Jane Franko, left to right, who will offer Country Craft novelties, such as the baskets and picture frames shown here; Joannina Ganz relaxes in her garden while painting designs on straw hats that she plans to sell; healthy house and garden plants are being prepared for the show by Mary Zellerman, shown here with part of her "green-thumb" collection; Linda Wiesehan holds wind chimes while seated on a lawn chair that she and her husband, Dave, made for the craft festival. The painted flowerpots and chimes also are the couple's handwork; and, at upper left, is a curio cabinet handcrafted by Dan Nollman, woodworker, who also creates wooden cradles and coffee mug hangers. All will be displayed at Sunday's gala show.

Lottery riding a hot streak

The Illinois State Lottery is currently on a wave of success that makes it the fourth largest source of state revenue. State Comptroller Roland W. Burris has reported. He said, the lottery record record revenues in fiscal 1983 and will do so again in fiscal 1984 ending June 30.

A financial history of the Illinois State Lottery since its inception in 1974 is the topic of the comptroller's latest monthly fiscal report.

Elsewhere in the report, the Illinois Economic Development Commission looks at manufacturing wages for Illinois workers and how they compare to the rest of the U.S. Those numbers suggest that higher-than-average pay in Illinois may be discouraging expanding industries from calling Illinois their new home.

In the regular report on state finance, the available balance in general funds at the end of May remained above the fiscal "warning zone" level for the sixth consecutive month, as total revenues for the first eleven months of fiscal 1984 increased 17.2 percent over the previous year.

Here are highlights of the comptroller's special report on the Illinois State Lottery:

The lottery was created to supplement the General Revenue Fund, the major spending fund for the operations of state government and its programs, including education and human services.

Lottery proceeds are placed into the State Lottery Fund, from which transfers are made to the General Revenue Fund.

By fiscal 1983, those transfers had become the next largest source of revenue behind income taxes, sales taxes and public utility taxes.

Lottery revenues for fiscal 1983 totaled $494.9 million, an increase of $365.5 million, or over 3.8 times the revenue total of $129.4 million in fiscal 1975.

Revenues had experienced a sharp decline of 37.9 percent from $164 million in 1976 to just $69 million in 1979 before entering into a period of dramatic growth.

Lottery revenues came from three sources, the largest being ticket sales with 99.8 percent of total revenues. The rest is made up of ticket agent fees and interest from the Lottery Fund.

Expenditures by the lottery in 1983 totaled $280.9 million, up $206.4 million or 3.9 times the 1975 spending of $71.6 million.

Prizes constituted the largest single expenditure, $231.4 million or 82.6 percent of all 1983 spending being awarded to lottery players.

Second largest spending item was agent commissions, totaling $33.5 million. The third type of expenditures, the actual cost of operating the lottery, accounted for $15.2 million in fiscal 1983.

Net revenues from the lottery - those monies available after expenditures were deducted from total revenues - totaled $214.9 million in fiscal 1983, up $157.9 million or 3.7 times net revenues in fiscal 1975.

The revenues grew from the start of the lottery until 1977, when they gradually declined to a low of $27.9 million in 1979. Since that time, net revenues have continued to grow each year.

Revenues from sale of lottery tickets fluctuated over the decade as the popularity of games changed.

Sales declined 58.5 percent, from $163.9 million in 1976 to $68 million in 1979. But with the introduction of daily games, sales grew to $493.9 million in fiscal 1983, or 7.3 times the 1979 level.

The daily game has been the lottery's top revenue producer and the game awarding the largest total in prizes. Daily winners received $135.5 million in fiscal 1983, 47.7 percent of the game's ticket sales.

Overall, the fiscal 1983 dollar amount in prizes was almost 5.1 times the amount awarded in fiscal 1980. The actual number of prizes awarded in fiscal 1983 was 20.2 million, 3.9 times the 5.2 million awarded in fiscal 1980.

In fiscal 1983 the operating costs of the state lottery amounted to $15.2 million, 3.4 percent of total expenditures. Largest single spending item was for contractual agreements, accounting for $6.4 million, or 44 percent of total operating spending. Lottery promotion, which accounted for $3.9 million or 25.6 percent of total spending, was the second largest expenditure.

The Lottery's fiscal transactions are handled through the State Lottery Fund, which receives deposits and pays expenses. From 1975 through 1983, $717.6 million was transferred from the fund, with nearly all placed into the General Revenue Fund.

In fiscal 1983, net transfers from the State Lottery Fund reached $215.8 million, and after 11 months of fiscal 1984 the lottery had already transferred $327.2 million to the general fund.

Compared to lotteries in 10 other states and the District of Columbia, Illinois ranked fifth in gross sales in 1983.

Since fiscal 1984 will be Illinois' first full year of the highly successful lotto game, the state's ranking may change by the end of the fiscal year.

Safety inspections of pickups, vans ending

Legislation sponsored by Sen. Sam Vadala to exempt pickup trucks and all "vehicles" registered as recreational vehicles from semi-annual safety inspections was passed last week by the Illinois Senate. The bill now goes to the governor for signing.

Vadala, D-Edwardsville, said the legislation will affect more than 29,000 truck owners in Madison County alone.

"The inspections are unnecessary. They make absolutely no difference in the highway accident statistics in this state. The inspections are merely a nuisance to the owners of these vehicles," he commented.

"Approximately 800,000 citizens go through 1.6 million inspections every year, based on the assumption that we are saving lives and decreasing the number of accidents. There is no concrete proof that these inspections contribute at all to safety."

The legislation related to vehicles weighing 6,000 pounds or less.

"Recent figures from the National Safety Council are further evidence that no safety differences exist between states with inspections and states without inspections," the senator added. "The national trend is away from these needless inspections."

"In the past five years, 11 states have discontinued them. Nationwide, 29 states are not requiring vehicle inspections."

"Illinois is the only state out of 21 to single out trucks for inspection purposes. And more than 70 percent of all the vehicles inspected at truck testing lanes are pickup trucks."

The General Assembly's approval of legislation eliminating the twice-a-year mandatory safety inspections of pickup trucks, vans and other small trucks "frees motorists of an unnecessary expense and nuisance," in the opinion of Sec. of State Jim Edgar.

Edgar said he supported House Bill 2430 because he found little evidence that inspections have any effect on highway safety. He had supported cutting back or eliminating the small truck inspections during the past three legislative sessions.

"I urge the governor to sign this legislation because it is an excellent example of how government can eliminate unnecessary intrusion in the lives of Illinois residents."

"Because there is a little or no correlation between safety inspection programs and accident rates, the trend throughout the nation in recent years has been to eliminate inspection programs," Edgar said.

"I'm glad Illinois is finally joining a majority of states by realizing that inspection programs haven't worked but have resulted in unnecessary expense and both for vehicle owners."

"Of the 29 states which have no vehicle safety test, 11 still have traffic safety records as good as or better than ours in Illinois. This is true even though Illinois has one of the best highway safety records in the nation," Edgar continued.

Truck inspections began in 1938 when most people owned trucks in connection with a business or farm. Today, pickup trucks and vans have become popular family vehicles. If we choose not to inspect the family car, I don't see how we can justify inspections of the family pickup truck.

Of the 828,000 small trucks and vans in Illinois, only 134,000 are registered in the name of a commercial business. This is currently the only state with a vehicle safety inspection law affecting trucks but not automobiles. However, emission testing of the Chicago area and Madison-St. Clair counties is likely to be ordered by the legislature.
